Five Negroes Killed; Block Leveled

BY U.P. INTERNATIONAL

A business block went up in flames in a Negro section of Kansas City, Mo., last night and five Negroes were killed as snipers exchanged gunfire with police and National Guardsmen until dawn today.

Following a survey of the riot area, Kansas City Mayor Illus Davis clamped a 7 p.m. curfew on the city as a precaution to the possibility of a third straight night of rioting.

The proclamation also banned the sale of firearms, ammunition and gasoline containers.

But the violence that followed the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. a week ago dwindled in most other places in the nation.

Although more than 15,000 federal troops remained on duty in Chicago, Baltimore and Washington—scenes of some of the worst outbreaks—life was returning to normal in those cities.

Other troops enforced the calm in Trenton, N.J., and Pittsburgh.

The known death toll in the week of racial disorders rose to 43 and arrests neared 20,000. At least 125 cities suffered violence or vandalism.

In the wake of continuing racial unrest, it was announced yesterday the president's Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders will reconvene sometime this spring to review its recommendations which have not been implemented.

Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois, who headed the panel, said no date has been selected for the session.

The five Negroes, including a father and teen-age son, shot to death on Kansas City's East Side last night, raised the two-day death count there to six. At least nine others were injured and nearly 400 persons were arrested.

Three blocks of small businesses blazed through the night in a predominantly Negro area of pre-World War II apartment houses and shops two miles east of Kansas City's downtown area.

Police armed with shotguns took to the roof of St. Joseph's Hospital, in the heart of the riot area to cover firemen fighting a fire in an apartment house next door to the hospital. They said

College Dean Claims Threat Against Post

Ramstad Silent After Meeting With Diamond

The split between the Marin Junior College District superintendent and faculty members widened today with the claim by Dean of Students Irwin P. Diamond that Supt. William K. Ramstad had told him he would be relieved of his position.

Diamond, who was acting superintendent-president for nearly a year before Ramstad took over last July, said he had been given the word at a 20-minute meeting in the superintendent's office yesterday.

RAMSTAD DENIAL

Ramstad immediately denied it.

At last week's meeting of the college district board, Diamond read a statement on behalf of faculty members charging Ramstad with refusing to seek or accept faculty advice.

That was the meeting at which the board, by 5-2 vote, appointed Louis H. Herkenhoff as president of the Kentfield college and elevated Ramstad to the newly separated position of superintendent.

CLOSED MEETING

The charge read by Diamond, formalized in a resolution by the Academic Senate, is to be considered by the board at a closed meeting at 7:45 p.m. today in the Fine Arts building at the college. The resolution calls for Ramstad's resignation for disregarding "basic professional and democratic values of the academic community."

Diamond said Ramstad told him yesterday he would be reassigned next school year but made no mention of what his new job would be. Diamond said "the implication was that it would not be a promotion." He said he believed this resulted from his reading the charges against Ramstad at last week's board meeting.

FORMER JOB

Diamond was director of athletics before being named dean of students.

Ramstad, informed of what Diamond had said, declared, "That's just not true."

He said the meeting was with all administrative staff to discuss procedure in completing campus building projects, but at its conclusion Diamond asked to talk further with him.

Ramstad said he felt "it would be inappropriate" to discuss what their conversation was about, but that he did not tell Diamond he would be reassigned, that he has no plan to reassign him, and that barring unforeseen events, Diamond will continue as dean of students.

"I'm sorry he said that," he declared. "I really think the fairest thing to him and best way to handle it is to not make any comment on any discussion I had with Mr. Diamond. I feel that what we discussed is between the two of us."

DIAMOND TELEPHONES

Diamond said that following their conversation, he telephoned board president Elizabeth M. Deedy and requested that if any such action is contemplated, he be given a board hearing.

Diamond said his Thursday statement was because he felt the faculty has a "vested interest" in college activities, that the college is the faculty and the student, and the effectiveness of teaching is obviously related to the welfare and morale of the faculty.

"To not recognize this, to me, is a very serious mistake," he said. "We seem to be going in the opposite direction."

Tonight's meeting was called by Mrs. Deedy following receipt of the faculty's resolution calling for Ramstad's resignation. She said today that a rumor that the board also will consider a change in Diamond's capacity is unfounded. The meeting will be closed at request of Ramstad.

Rocky 'Available If Party Wants'

Says He Can Beat Demos

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said today he was available for the Republican presidential nomination if his party "wants an alternative" and "I think I could win."

Rockefeller, who only last month announced he would not actively seek the party's nomination, insisted he had not changed his position.

STRONG CHALLENGE

But his latest statement was his strongest challenge to the candidacy of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, now conceded to be the front runner for the party's presidential nomination.

The New York governor appeared at a news conference following a statement by Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., in Washington today that 19 or 20 of the 26 Republican governors backed Rockefeller for the nomination. (See earlier story on page 2.)

Rockefeller hired author and political strategist Emmet John Hughes earlier this week as a member of his personal staff. Hughes was a close aide of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Asked today if he wanted to be president, Rockefeller declared:

ANSEWER IS 'YES'

"If the party and the country want me, the answer is yes."

Rockefeller said, however, he could not confirm Morton's estimate of his backing by other Republican governors. Morton had agreed last month to be Rockefeller's campaign manager if he decided to announce his candidacy.

The Governor refused to speculate as to whether he or Nixon was more popular in urban areas. "I think comparisons are odious," he said.

Rockefeller resisted all efforts to discuss political strategy. "My concern is for the future of my country," he said.

And he insisted his position as a non-candidate "had not changed" since he stated March 21 he would not seek the nomination.

$1,000 Robbery Victim Slugged

The manager of Salt's Fish and Chips in Sausalito was robbed of $1,000 and clubbed over the head with a shotgun in the driveway of his Strawberry apartment last night, sheriff's deputies reported.

The bandit, described as a young Negro man of medium build, sporting a chin beard and mustache, fled the robbery scene with a male companion, eluding two women passers-by who gave chase.

William Coyne of 21C Circle Drive, Tiburon told officers the money stolen constituted the receipts of Tuesday and yesterday's business.

Officers said Coyne and Howard Tirrance, an employee of the business, left Salt's at 10:30 p.m.

When Coyne left Tirrance off at his home in Mill Valley, Tirrance noticed that a yellow Volkswagen was following Coyne's car.

He called Coyne's wife at their apartment and warned that the occupants of the trailing car might be after the money.

Mrs. Coyne met her husband as he entered the driveway and warned him. As Coyne walked toward the apartment, he saw the bandit, crouched in the shadows, pointing a shotgun.

"Give us the money," the bandit said.

Coyne grabbed at the robber and the man struck him over the head and shoulder with a .410 gauge shotgun. The bandit grabbed the money bag and ran to the car as Coyne slumped to the ground.

As Coyne got to his feet to give chase, a car with two women inside drove up and Coyne shouted for them to stop the robber and the driver of the Volkswagen.

The bandit waved his gun and warned the women not to follow or they would get hurt.

The women, one from Strawberry and one from Novato, chased the car over three blocks until the bandits turned down a dead end street.

At the end of the street, the men jumped from the car, leaped a fence and ran down a hill, out of sight, the women told deputies.

Inspector Guido Battaglia said today that the car was registered to a Marin City man who said today that he recently sold it to a used car lot.

24,000 In Reserves Immediately Called Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford announced today the immediate callup of about 24,500 Army, Navy and Air Force reservists. Some 10,000 of them will be sent to South Vietnam.

Clifford made the announcement at his first formal news conference since becoming Pentagon chief on March 1.

He said the Army is calling about 20,000 men in 76 National Guard and Army Reserve units. The Navy is calling up approximately 1,000 men in two reserve units. These men will be available for rotation between Southeast Asia and the United States.

The Air Force is calling about 3,500 men in 10 Air National Guard and Air Force Reserve units. About a third of these will be sent to Southeast Asia under current plans.

Clifford said the length of service for all of these men will not exceed 24 months. He said notifications were already being sent to all units involved. Each man will have a minimum of 30 days' notice before reporting.

The additional men being sent to Vietnam, Clifford said, will bring the total of American troops serving there to 549,500.

Clifford said he did not believe that the new callup would adversely affect current peace feelers or give Hanoi the impression that the United States was escalating the war.

Clifford said it is President Johnson's "intention at this time" not to increase U. S. forces in Vietnam beyond 549,500. That was the new level announced recently.

Clifford also said:

Communist troops began pulling out of the Khe Sanh area a month ago, not as a de-escalation gesture but because they were in the process of being destroyed.

As for the bombing of the North, at no point did Clifford say the United States might halt the attacks entirely — a possibility discussed by Johnson's talks at Camp David Md., earlier this week.

—The United States has

Travis Unit Is Involved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The reserve callup announced today by Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford affects 24,550 men in 88 Army, Navy and Air Force reserve and National Guard units in 34 states.

The list of units and home states includes:

Army National Guard

1st Squadron, 18th Armored Cavalry Regiment, California.
40th Aviation Co., California.

Air Reserve

82nd Aerial Port Squadron, California.

The 82nd Aerial Port Squadron is stationed at Travis Air Force Base, but comes under the command of Col. William J. Bohnaker, commander of the Sixth Reserve Region, headquartered at Hamilton Air Force Base.

About 100 men were called to full-time duty at Travis. Their duties are to load and unload passengers, mail and cargo, plus keeping records on it. Travis is the main cargo terminal for air cargo to and from Southeast Asia.

U.S. Balks At Hanoi's Bid For Poland Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The White House indicated today that the Polish capital of Warsaw is not acceptable to the United States as the site for talks between American and North Vietnamese representatives.

George Christian, President Johnson's press secretary, said the United States was still attempting to reach agreement with Hanoi on a "neutral" site for talks with North Vietnam.

The new site was reported by Tass, the Soviet news agency. The report said "reliable sources" in Hanoi made the suggestion of Warsaw after the U.S. refused to accept a site in Cambodia.

While the United States maintains diplomatic relations with Poland, the broad implication was that the United States was against Warsaw as the talks site since it is a capital of a Communist nation.

"In serious matters of this kind, it is important to conduct talks in a neutral atmosphere fair to both sides," Christian said.

Christian declined to amplify on the statement, which appeared to flatly rule out Warsaw as for the initial

U.S. Units Recapture Green Beret Camp In New Drive

SAIGON (UPI) — American forces today swept triumphantly through South Vietnam's northwest corner with Communist tanks and troops scurrying for cover.

U.S. Army forces pushed past the Lang Vei Green Beret camp that they lost Feb. 6 in their first battle with Communist tanks and which they recaptured yesterday in their latest fight with the Russian-made armor.

Meanwhile there were no significant contact reported yet in the biggest allied offensive of the war, the sweep by 100,000 troops looking for an estimated 18,000-20,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in the 11 provinces around Saigon. The operation, named Complete Victory, is now in its fourth day.

U. S. officers blamed the enemy's reluctance to do battle on his losses during the lunar new year offensive.

American spokesmen also said that last week, despite President Johnson's push for talks with North Vietnam, combat brought 276 Americans killed. It was the lowest count, however, since the start of the Communist Tet offensive on Jan. 31. The count brought to 5,057 the number of

Rights Bill Ready For LBJ Signing

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Johnson was to sign the historic new civil rights bill this afternoon (2 p.m. PST) the White House announced.

The president, who hailed final congressional approval of the bill as a "victory for every American," had the legislation on his desk, ready to sign and apparently rushed preparations for a ceremonial signing before members of Congress left town for a 10-day Easter vacation.

In an emotional session yesterday, the House sent the bill to the White House on a 250-171 vote in a quick response to the violence that has wracked the nation in the past week.

A cheer went up as the bill passed.

Marin's two congressmen split in yesterday's vote to approve the landmark civil rights bill. Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, voted for it, but Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, voted against the bill.

Clausen represents Novato and West Marin, and Mailliard represents the rest of the county and the western portion of San Francisco.

Despite the glee on Capitol Hill and among administration officials, the House action drew a frigid reaction from one of the country's top important Negro leaders.

"This is a great stride toward freedom of white America, but it is barely a step forward for Black America," said Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, heir to Dr. Martin Luther King's leadership of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

The most crucial test came before final passage, when the House nailed in the Senate-passed language of the bill by rejecting, 229-195, a move aimed

GOOD FRIDAY CLOSINGS SET

City and county offices as well as banks will close their doors from noon to 3 p.m. tomorrow in observance of Good Friday.

Officials of Marin County Chamber of Commerce and Visitors Bureau said that major department stores will remain open and that closing is optional with smaller retail businesses.

Most Christian churches in the county have scheduled services for the three-hour period, which commemmorates Christ's crucifixion.

Russia Confirms Probe Orbiting Around Moon

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government confirmed today that Luna 14 has gone into orbit around the moon.

The announcement by Tass, the Soviet news agency, gave no indication that any attempt would be made to bring the unmanned moon shot back to earth, something that is considered a necessary step toward putting a man on the moon but has never been done.

Bahamas White Power Crumbles

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — A landslide election victory gave Premier Lyndon O. Pindling complete power over the Bahama Islands yesterday and left the white ruling structure of this British colony in ruins.

Pindling

In a flush of black nationalism, the Negroes went to the polls in record numbers and the 38-year-old premier, a Negro, who had ruled by a one-vote margin in the House of Assembly, suddenly found himself in control of 29 of the 38 seats.

The triumph in Wednesday's election became even more one sided when a Labor party member and an independent who had joined in a coalition with Pindling also were swept back into office.

It was a shattering defeat for the once all powerful United Bahamian party headed by wealthy white merchants.

Pindling and his Progressive Liberal party now are expected to press Great Britain for full internal self control.

The U.S. embassy said it had not been informed of the arrest.

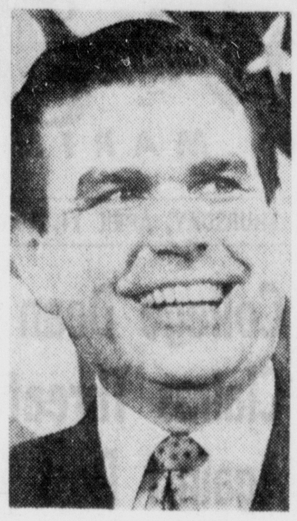
Both men underwent their change operations abroad in their 20's and developed cancer later in Britian.

Postmaster General Quits To Be Kennedy Aide; Watson Named

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lawrence F. O'Brien, one of the nation's top political pros, today endorsed Sen. Robert F. Kennedy for the Democratic presidential nomination. He is preparing to become a top Kennedy campaign strategist as soon as his divorce from the Johnson Administration becomes final.

O'Brien managed President Johnson's 1964 campaign and was a key figure in John F. Kennedy's 1960 presidential drive.

O'Brien, who resigned Wednesday as postmaster general, delicately made no mention of any role in the Kennedy campaign. But a source said O'Brien will rejoin the so-called Irish Mafia which managed the successful 1960 campaign of Kennedy's brother as soon as he leaves Johnson's Cabinet.



MARVIN WATSON
New postmaster general

The source said O'Brien may remain as lame-duck postmaster General until the Senate confirms his successor, J. Marvin Watson, 43, a longtime Johnson aide. This will probably be shortly after Congress returns from its Easter recess, which starts today.

O'Brien, who was making plans for Johnson's re-election campaign up to the very day the President announced he would not seek another term, said he had decided to leave the Cabinet because "the circumstances have made it necessary for me to pursue other interests."

In announcing O'Brien's resignation, the President said he gave him the same advice he was giving other members of his cabinet.

"I told him what I told the other members of the Cabinet the other day, that since I was not going to be a candidate for re-election, I realize the Cabinet had made many sacrifices in order to serve me and serve the country and that now was the time for any of them to make decisions concerning their families and their future."

O'Brien's quitting and Johnson's advice raised the strong possibility of more Cabinet resignations before the November election.

Rocky's Bandwagon Tuning Up Again; Humphrey Waits

BY U.P. INTERNATIONAL

New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's refusal to play the role of the authentic noncandidate boosted him back into prominence today as a likely Republican presidential contender.

A new "Rockefeller for President" committee has been opened for business by Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., a Rockefeller intimate. He presumably would not be wasting time on an effort that had no chance of bearing fruit.

Morton announced the formation of the committee yesterday, shortly after Rockefeller said in Washington that President Johnson's withdrawal as a Democratic candidate has left the GOP presidential nomination picture "fluid".

Rockefeller said he would be speaking out on national issues in coming weeks. Asked whether this would lend itself tot he label "active noncandidacy," Rockefeller smiled and said he would want to use the term "availability" instead.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey meantime said nothing to contradict authoritative reports he has decided to run for the Democratic nomination.

He is not expected to announce right away, though he is speaking in Winston Salem, N.C., and Baton Rouge, La., today. But he told reporters at the White House last evening that he plans a week's vacation soon, and he will "have something to say" when he returns. A citizens campaign committee plugging his candidacy is already at work.

In other developments:

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy —The New York Democrat campaigned in Indiana yesterday, telling audiences at Columbus and Terre Haute that the state's May 7 primary "can in all probability decide who is going to be the next president." Kennedy, who planned more speeches in the state today, meets Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy head-on for the first time in Indiana. It was announced in California that Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. would campaign for Kennedy in that state's June 4 primary.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy — McCarthy, D-Minn., campaigned for Nebraska's May 14 primary yesterday. He said in Lincoln that he saw no point in reconvening President Johnson's National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders despite the widespread racial violence in the nation the last week. "I don't see any point in reconvenit," he said. "The country is pretty aware of what the commission has recommended.

Error Gave Too Many Votes To Mrs. Beyer

A 60-vote error in recording the vote for Mrs. Patricia Beyer in the Marion School precinct, giving her an incorrect total of 995 instead of 935 votes, was reported yesterday by Novato City Mgr. J. Julien Baget.

Correcting the count for Mrs. Beyer in the city council race did not affect the election but did place her in sixth place after Wilfred Lieb's 943 votes, rather than in fifth place.

Financing Education

BOSTON (AP) — A federal narcotics official says some Greater Boston college students are paying their way through school by flying to the West Coast to purchase marijuana and selling it to other students. Bowman G. Taylor, regional head of the Federal Narcotics Bureau, said yesterday some students make the trip twice a month and clear $8,000 a trip. Some are co-eds, he said.

LBJ Selects Abrams As Vietnam Boss

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The appointment of Gen. Creighton W. Abrams as U.S. military commander in Vietnam appeared today as another move toward "Vietnamizing" the war. President Johnson named the 53-year-old West Pointer yesterday to succeed Gen. William C. Westmoreland, who becomes Army Chief of Staff July 2.

Johnson also named Adm. John S. McCain Jr., 59, London-based commander of U.S. Naval forces in Europe for the past year, as commander of U.S. forces in the Pacific. He succeeds Adm. Ulysses S. G. Sharp who is retiring.

Abrams' appointment, while not signaling any major change in policy, did seem to accelerate the increasing emphasis on giving the South Vietnamese a bigger hand in the war.

Abrams, who has been deputy to Westmoreland since June, has been a staunch defender of the oft-criticized Army of South Vietnam (ARVN).

Work Hailed On Priceless Art

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — Many of the art works most seriously damaged in the floods of November 1966 were declared yesterday almost totally out of danger of further harm.

Prof. Umberto Baldini, director of the restoration operation, said with help from foreign lands the restoration work has made impressive speed.

The major problem immediately after the flood was to prevent further destruction to the water-soaked and mud-covered works from mold. Another danger was cracking of paint caused by unregulated drying.

Slain Man's Remains In Unclaimed Trunk

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The body of an elderly man was discovered yesterday sealed in a trunk which had been shipped here by Railway Express from Newark, N.J.

Police said the victim had been murdered with a single bullet through his heart. But his identity and why he was slain remained unknown.

San Francisco Coroner Henry W. Turkel said the man had been dead for "ten days or more" and said he was a Caucasian weighing about 185 pounds.

Homicide officials in Newark said the trunk had been shipped by a woman and added "some progress had been made" in tracing her identity.

The large, black trunk carefully sealed with tape was opened by Railway Express Agency foreman Dirk Van Denakker, 24, when he noticed an offensive odor coming from it.

"It was kind of a shock—I could see an arm," he said. The body was wrapped in a sheet and the trunk stuffed with flowered sofa pillows. Mothballs had been sprinkled in the trunk.

The trunk had been shipped April 1 pre-paid at a cost of $57.40 to a person in San Francisco and was marked "will Call." Police would not identify whom it was addressed to, but there was speculation it was a false name.

Even before examination revealed the bullet wound, homicide inspectors said it was "reasonably certain" the man was a murder victim.

No Plans Seen For Price Checks

WASHINGTON (AP) — A high federal official says he doesn't know of any plans to impose wage and price controls.

Price Daniel, director of the Office of Emergency Planning, told the House Banking Committee yesterday one of OEP's duties is to keep standby drafts of such controls up to date.

"No one has told us to get the file ready for use," Daniel said.

There has been speculation wage and price controls might be imposed if inflation could not be checked by a tax increase, monetary policy or other indirect methods.

Police Ride Buses After Rob-Murder

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Plainclothes police were assigned to watch over city buses in the Hunters Point district today as all-day service was restored to the area following the murder of a driver during a robbery.

Bus service on three lines was cut off following the shooting Tuesday night. Service was resumed yesterday afternoon following a news conference called by Mayor Joseph Alioto.

The mayor said plainclothesmen rather than uniformed patromen would keep a discreet eye on buses in the area.

SERVICE STRESSED

"Our first concern is to provide service to the innocent people in the area," the mayor said after a meeting with Municipal Railway and drivers' union officials.

He said the assignment of plainclothes officers to watch buses was "nothing extraordinary."

"We have some plainclothesmen on various buses throughout the city when it's the prudent thing to do," Alioto told newsmen.

Driver Martin J. Whitted, 29, a father of three, was killed by a slug fired at close range. Witnesses said four Negro youths grabbed Whitted's money changer after the shot was fired.

Police reported some sniper fire in the predominantly Negro area in the southeast corner of the city after the bus incident.

Officers shot out street lights and searched unoccupied buildings in a public housing area, but found no trace of a gunman.

SAILOR WOUNDED

A sailor riding a motorcycle was wounded in the leg in a separate incident about one half hour after Whitted was killed. The Navy man, Charles W. Moakler, 21, was shot when he stopped to let some youths cross the street about three-quarters of a mile away from the bus incident in the Bayview district, scene of a mild racial outbreak in 1966.

Alioto yesterday announced the board of supervisors would be asked to approve pension privileges for Whitted's widow. The mayor also said competitive bids would be sought soon for the installation of two-way radios on city buses.

Stolen Property Case Is Dropped

Bradley Martin Zappa, 19, of La Brea Way, Santa Venetia, was cleared in Marin Municipal Court yesterday of a charge that he concealed stolen property.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein dismissed the charge for lack of sufficient evidence after Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael Anthony reported that the chief prosecution witness is now in Korea.

Zappa had been charged with concealing a stolen stereophonic tape set, radio and tape cartridge in a car Jan. 5, when San Rafael police arrested him.

the hospital was not threatened.

Gov. Warren E. Hearns flew to Kansas City from the capital at Jefferson City and ordered 630 more National Guardsmen into the city along with the 2,800 already on duty.

In Trenton, police arrested 45 more persons last night, 21 for curfew violations.

In Newark, Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio said "white militants" could have set some of the 300 fires that swept his city's Central Ward since Tuesday. But he said he had no firm evidence of it.

In Cincinnati, where disorders erupted during the weekend, police lifted a dusk-to-dawn curfew although 1,400 National Guardsmen were ordered to stay another 24 hours.

Washington partially lifted its restrictions on liquor sales for the first time in five days yesterday.

Police said a curfew enforced by 600 National Guardsmen in Columbia, S.C. had brought conditions nearly to normal and the National Guard force in Memphis, where King was slain, was cut from 5,000 to 2,000.

The curtailment of liquor sales was lifted in North Carolina and hundreds of National Guardsmen were demobilized in southern Michigan. A curfew was eased in Detroit.

One of the cities which has been bypassed so far by current rioting is Cleveland, scene of unrest last summer.

Today, Carl B. Stokes, the city's Negro mayor, praised the city for keeping cool while most major other cities experienced rioting.

Since King's death he has spent more than eight hours a day touring the ghetto area, asking the people to "keep it cool."

The reply, he said, was: "We will."

at detouring it to a conference committee for modifications. Democrats and Republicans split on both votes.

The bill will outlaw racial discrimination in the sale or rental of 80 per cent of the nation's homes and apartments by 1970. For this year, it will mainly cover federally owned or financed housing already covered by an executive order issued by President Kennedy in 1962.

The real effect will come in 1969, when the bill extends to other apartment housing and real estate developments, and in 1970 when it covers private homes sold through brokers.

There will be two main exemptions: an owner selling his own home, and an owner renting no more than four units in his own dwelling.

Home Is Looted

Ralph D. Hoy of 1818 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, reported to police last night the theft of several cameras, tools and a watch from his home during daylight yesterday. Hoy could not estimate his loss before determining whether other items were missing.

Purse Is Stolen

A purse was stolen from her car yesterday while it was parked in Mill Valley, Patricia Heitman of 212 Woodward Avenue, Sausalito, told Mill Valley police today. The purse contained her passport, birth certificate and several identification and credit cards.

Stethoscope Stolen

A stethoscope valued at $24 was stolen from the glove compartment of his car, Dr. Maurice E. Leonard of 49 Molino Avenue told Mill Valley police yesterday.

The original Iroquois Confederacy was made up of Mohawks, Senecas, Cayugas, Onandagas and Oneidas; the Tuscaroras were admitted early in the 18th century to form the Six Nations.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Young Witnesses Able To Testify

The law requires witnesses at a trail or other proceeding to take an oath. The witness usually swears "to tell the whole truth and nothing but the truth, so help you God." But all the law calls for is that the witness take some sort of oath to tell the truth.

If he tells a lie on purpose about a material fact in the trial, the district attorney may prosecute him for perjury for which, if convicted, he can be punished by a term in jail or a fine.

The wintess has to understand that he has a legal duty to tell the truth on the witness stand.

Sometimes where a young childn is a witness, the judge or a lawyer may ask special questions to make sure that he understands this duty.

In one case a four-year-old child's testimony was crucial in an auto accident case. The child gave intelligent answers to the judge's questions as to his duty to tell the truth.

Since he did not underestand what an oath was he was not sworn. He did not go to church; bue he did know it was wrong to lie. The judge allowed him to testify.

The law before 1967 said children over 10 could testify unless their incapacity was shown. Children under 10 could testify only after a showing that they had the necessary capacity.

In practice the courts never found much magic in the age of 10. No matter what the age, if children were fairly bright and promised to tell the truth they could testify.

It was up to the judge or jury to weigh the testimony.

Now a new law does away with the age limits. Any person may testify if he can express himself so as to be understood and if he takes an oath to tell the truth. Courts and juries can weigh such testimony and evaluate the child's mentality, his ability to perceive and remember facts.

A person who is a little below normal will not always be disqualified. The fact that a person was once committed to a mental hospital is not alone enough to disqualify him.

Foreigners are often witnesses. A court interpreter takes their testimony. He takes an oath that he will correctly and accurately translate the questions and and answers.

Interpreters are also often used for deaf wintesses.

U.S. servicemen killed in Vietnam action this year.

Last week 3,190 Americans suffered combat wounds. The week's total of 3,469 killed and wounded was second only to the previous week's figure of 4,216 as the highest of the war.

Many of the American casualties last week came in the 20,000-man Allied drive that drove a North Vietnamese force of 16,000 to 20,000 men from Khe Sanh.

In other developments, two U.S. Marines helicopters collided and crashed in the northwest corner battle area, killing four men aboard them. In the same area, the U.S. northern border fort of Khe Sanh—its 11-week Communist siege lifted by the Army troops who roared on to its outpost of Lang Vei—today enjoyed a second straight day without Communist fire.

American spokesmen said U.S. jet bombers flew 116 missions against North Vietnam's southern panhandle yesterday. For the sixth day in a row they struck only below the 19th parallel, although President Johnson had set the more northern 20th Parallel as the limit for strikes in his March 31 bombing slowdown bid for talks with Hanoi.

Troops of the U.S. Army 1st Air Cavalry Division, which freed Khe Sanh last week, reported only light opposition in its drive to the south, past Lang Vei, in search of the Communist siege army that faded away.

Verdict Of Guilty In Scuffle Case

A Marin Municipal Court jury yesterday found James Lewis Green, 47, of 2300 Vista Del Mar, Tiburon, guilty of obstructing a police officer.

Green, scheduled for sentencing April 25, failed to halt July 30, when Sheriff's Deputy John O. Goff chased him on Tiburon Boulevard for a suspected traffic violation.

Instead, Green motioned to the deputy with his arm and proceeded to his house. Green said later he was only looking for a safe place to pull off the road.

At Green's home, the deputy and Green scuffled. Goff said he thrice ordered Robert E. Wilson, a neighbor of Green, to help him in the struggle.

Wilson was charged with failing to aid in an arrest, but the charge was dismissed when the district attorney reported that Wilson was undergoing treatment for a fractured ankle at the time of the scuffle.

Cosmetics Firm Files Libel Suit

The action asks $500,000 damages for the company, $200,000 for Patrick; $200,000 for Fred Pape, president of the firm, and $100,000 each for Ben Gay, assistant to the president, Terry McVey, national field director, and Sherman Coultus, special adviser to the company.

SITE

"contacts" between U. S. roving Ambassador Averell Harriman and a North Vietnamese envoy of equal rank.

Hanoi's proposal to hold the meeting in Warsaw came as a surprise to the Johnson Administration. When it advised Hanoi on Tuesday that it would prefer a location other than Phnom Penh, Cambodia —North Vietnam's initial choice —the United States suggested four alternative sites in Asia. These were Rangoon, Burma; New Delhi, India; Jakarta, Indonesia, and Vientiane, Laos.

Washington confined its alternative suggestions to Asia because of Hanoi's indications it wanted a meeting site relatively close to home.

The American objections to Phnom Penh were based primarily on the fact that the United States has no diplomatic relations with Cambodia and therefore no secure embassy-based communications from that point.

U. S. officials at first had indicated the United States probably would agree to talks in Warsaw.

Meanwhile in Brussels today U. N. Secretary General Thant said today he expects preliminary talks between the United States and North Vietnam to begin within the next week.

His statement came at the end of a three-day official visit to Belgium at Melsbroek military airfield before flying to Luxembourg to begin a two-day official visit.

On another related front today, the Soviet Communist party pledged new aid to the Communists of Vietnam and called for ideological warfare against Western attempts to undermine Red doctrine.

The promise of aid indicated that new military and economic supplies will go to both North Vietnam and the Viet Cong.

It said the aid will be given "in the name of earliest peace" —the closest it came to endorsing talks between Hanoi and Washington.

Guidelines of Soviet policy were embedded in a statement issued in Moscow after a two-day session of the 360-member central committee of the Soviet Communist party, the nation's most powerful policy-making body.

Informed sources said the session debated peace in Vietnam and the recent turmoil in Eastern Europe.

MISS DOUGLASS WHITEHEAD

MISS DOUGLASS WHITEHEAD

Funeral for Miss Douglass Whitehead, drama teacher and author, will be tomorrow at 10 a.m. at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

Miss Whitehead, the last surviving member of a family long associated with the theater, died Tuesday in a Marin nursing home after a long illness. She was 93.

She was born in Nebraska, the daughter of a colonel under the command of Robert E. Lee in the Civil War.

The family moved to California when she was young and Miss Whitehead was one of the few surviving members of the class of 1897 at the University of California, Berkeley. She received her degree in drama at San Francisco State College and she went on the Columbia University to receive her masters degree in theatrical arts.

Starting in 1922, she collaborated with her late sister, Virginia, in the operation of their Whitehead School of Theater and Drama in New York for 36 years.

Many of those they taught won parts in Broadway hits. During this time, Miss Whitehead wrote three children's operettas and a number of poems.

In the early 1960s, both sisters retired and went to live in Sausalito. They maintained an interest in the Mountain Theater, of which they had been founding members.

On the death of her sister, in 1965, Miss Whitehead left Sausalito to live with a niece, Mrs. Virginia Luiz at 820 Idylberry Road, Marinwood.

Miss Whitehead was an early member of the Berkeley Community Theater and the Carmel Players.

Negro Criticizes Ghetto Programs

A young Negro attorney said today young blacks will not become a meaningful part of society until racial pride motivates them to learn and work.

Addressing the Marvelous Marin Breakfast Club, Donald Warden of San Francisco criticized civil rights and antipoverty programs because they have not reached the "masses in the ghettos."

"The black community never endorsed the civil rights movement," he said, because it was not designed to help most of the ghetto residents.

'NEVER TOLD YOU'

Civil rights leaders, he contended, appealed to the white community to pass laws to help blacks but "never told you this legislation would affect only a small group of Negroes."

Warden, a 32-year-old Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Howard University, said the drive for voting rights was aimed at electing "middle class persons with degrees" and that there was no role in this for those who really needed help: "persons on welfare, winos and the hard-core unemployed."

GHETTO ANGERED

He said misdirection of programs to help the disadvantaged resulted in laws which pleased the white community at first but only angered the people in the ghettos because they saw few changes.

The blacks thus felt betrayed. Then, when the riots broke out, the whites did, too, Warden said.

The attorney said programs must be drawn to rekindle the motivation which has been lost because a Negro has dropped out of school or cannot get a meaningful job. He said young blacks must be able to look up to some one who speaks their language and, at the same time, "show that he has a mind; shows that he can think."

OPINION OF KING

Warden said Martin Luther King could have been that person if only he had said once in a while, during a speech, that "I want you black boys to stay in school for me," instead of just berating whites.

The attorney said society has not learned that integration is not the goal, good education is; that good housing, not fair housing, is what is needed, and that the aim is to provide jobs, not just antidiscrimination laws.

Tiburon Man Feared Span Leap Victim

A Tiburon man is believed to have jumped to his death from the Golden Gate Bridge at 6 p.m. yesterday.

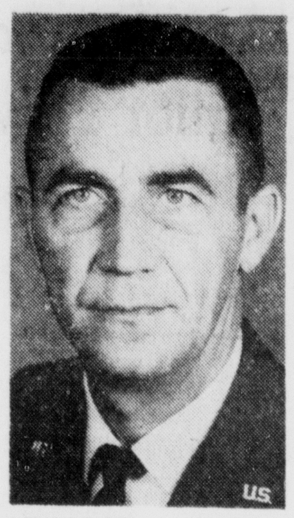
Two witnesses from San Francisco, Virginia and Robert Brown, told California Highway Patrolmen they were walking across the bridge and saw a man jump over the railing at the mid-span.

From a briefcase and other personal effects left on the sidewalk, he was identified by the patrol as Thomas J. Cairns, 43, of 543 Comstock Drive, Tiburon.

A Coast Guard search undertaken by two patrol boats in dense fog failed to recover the body.

A neighbor who drove across the bridge told patrolmen he saw Cairns near the toll plaza and offered him a ride, which he refused. He said Cairns had been laid off his job recently.

Mrs. Cairns told patrolmen her husband had been looking for work in San Francisco and had given no indication he might take his own life, they reported.



NEW DUTIES — Maj. Cecil P. Roberts, formerly flight commander of the 84th Fighter Interceptor Squadron at Hamilton Air Force Base has been named the unit's operations officer. ## Andresen Denies Opposing Ballot

Newly elected Mill Valley Councilman Robert H. Andresen said today the Independent-Journal was wrong yesterday when it reported he opposed the anti-Vietnam war resolution passed by Mill Valley voters Tuesday.

Andresen made a sharp distinction between his stand on the ballot resolution and on a similar resolution which the council passed March 4.

During the campaign, Andresen was strongly against the council's action, objecting that the council had no business dealing in national affairs.

But as for the ballot resolution, Andresen said, "I didn't express myself one way or the other" in the campaign. Andresen said he told voters to use their own judgment on the ballot proposal.

Officials Are Silent On Assassin Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Federal officials are keeping silent on their progress toward apprehending the killer of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The Justice Department turned aside queries yesterday on all aspects of the assassination in Memphis last Thursday that triggered nationwide racial violence.

In Mexico, however, a spokesman for the U.S. embassy said Mexican police have not been asked officially to help track down the killer. But they were circulating an artist's sketch of a suspect on their own.

The Memphis Commercial Appeal reported today that two white Mustang automobiles of the description the killer is believed to have used were parked near the hotel where King was slain. One of the cars bore Arkansas plates, a witness was quoted as saying.

All that is known publicly of the Justice Department's activities is that the FBI, which has control over the investigation at the federal level, is working around the clock sifting through a bewildering array of reports and rumors, and that no arrest warrants have been issued.

Air Crash Ruins Company's Debut

The plane was flying from Aguascalientes to Mexico City carrying public officials and newsmen on the inauguration of the 325-mile route by Aerovias Rojas.

Ross Valley Library Plan Is Postponed

The nine-member committee to study library needs in lower Ross Valley yesterday postponed voting on whether to merge the Larkspur library with county branch libraries at Corte Madera and Greenbrae.

Under the present system, the two branches and the City of Larkspur Library operate independently. A single library building for all three libraries is the alternative. The building would be operated on a joint powers system between the county and the City of Larkspur.

The committee delayed action in order to first visit model libraries at Danville and Antioch, both in Contra Costa County. The Danville library is somewhat typical of county branch libraries, and has floor space of 6,500 square feet, according to Bruce D. Bajema, assistant county librarian.

The Antioch library is a regional, or joint, library, he said, and has 11,000 square feet. The committee will begin the field trip at 9 a.m. April 20, from the Corte Madera Town Hall, where yesterday's meeting was held.

The committee was established by the Marin County Board of Supervisors to study the merits of a joint library proposed by Larkspur, and then make its recommendation to the supervisors.

Yesterday's session — attended by six of the nine members, and by Bajema, John J. Barrows, assistant county administrator; Mrs. Virginia Keating, county librarian, and Ronald L. Usher, Corte Madera town manager — resulted in one decision, however, that leasing of any building for a larger Corte Madera branch library would be impractical.

The informal agreement followed a comparison of estimates of costs to lease buildings providing 6,000 square feet or more, and the cost of purchasing land and erecting such a building.

Next meeting following the field trip will be at 1:15 p.m. April 22, at Corte Maders Town Hall. Mrs. John J. Ramsey of Corte Madera is chairman.

BIG BLAZE IN TERRA LINDA

Terra Linda fireman Al Guerrant douses the last embers of a spectacular fire which partially gutted the Eichler home of Mrs. Ida Buchanan at 885 Penny Royal Lane, Terra Linda, at 10:14 a.m. today. Firemen managed to save three rooms of the seven-room home even though flames were leaping 30 feet through the roof before firemen arrived. Mrs. Buchanan and two of her three children were in the house at the time of the fire, but escaped uninjured. The fire is believed to have been started when fumes from tile glue being used in a partially constructed addition were ignited by the heating system.

Fair/Marin Sets Budget Of $15,456

Fair/Marin Incorporated, which will operate the memorial auditorium and the fairgrounds at the Civic Center, will have a budget of $15,456 for the coming fiscal year, chairman Fred F. Enemark announced last night at a meeting of the board of directors.

"This was the amount agreed upon with the county administrator," said Enemark. "The county administrator suggested we get a manager for the auditorium on July 1, but we demurred. We don't plan to put anyone on the payroll until Jan. 1."

From January, the budget calls for a fair-auditorium manager, whose salary range will be from $1,000 to $1,100 per month, and a half-time senior clerical typist. Their salaries plus retirement and insurance benefits, total $9,417 for the half year period between January and end of the fiscal year on June 30. Services and supplies were computed at $5,384, and fixed assets (desk, chair and typewriter) at $655, for total budget of $15,456.

Enemark said the only expenses contemplated between now and next January would be for stationery.

The directors continued their discussion of a contract to be drawn up between Fair/Marin and the county, outlining the exact duties and jurisdiction of Fair/Marin. Enemark said the board members would like to have attorney Leland H. Jordan work with them in drawing up the legal contract.

Group Will Join Rally In Oakland

In Marin County, cars will assemble at 12:30 p.m. in front of the Peace and Freedom Party headquarters, 89 Red Hill Avenue, San Anselmo.

Anti-Reagan Primary Ballot Drive Fails

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A group of Republicans opposed to Gov. Ronald Reagan has failed to win a spot on the June 4 presidential primary ballot, assuring the governor of a clear field in the election, state officials said today.

"You can definitely say they did not qualify," said H. P. Sullivan, assistant secretary of state.

Sullivan said the group, which called itself the free delegation, received only 12,996 signatures on petitions — far short of the 18,715 needed. The dead line was last midnight.

The dissenting Republicans had proposed to go to the Republican National Convention unpledged to any candidate.

They maintained Reagan was actually running for president—something Reagan denied—and said that California Republicans deserved a choice in the primary.

Although the anti-Reagan group had little chance of beating the governor in the primary, it could have provided some homestate dissent that might have been embarrassing to him.

Now it appeared he will take California's 86-vote delegation to the Republican National convention with solid backing as the state's favorite son — and as a potential candidate for the nomination. The delegation is second in size to New York's.

State Republican Chairman James Halley said the anti-Reagan group's apparent failure to win a place on the ballot shows "the strength of the broad-based delegation" the governor assembled.

He said Reagan and every other possible GOP presidential candidate must "speak out on the major issues" between now and the August convention.

The anti-Reagan slate was announced by a few University of California professors and other educators who said Californians should have a choice in the presidential primary. They said Reagan was actually a candidate for president.

County Launches Suit To Eject Bay Drydocks

The County of Marin filed a suit for ejection in Marin Superior Court today against Delmar Wise, owner of the drydocks which sit in the middle of Richardson Bay.

The suit names as defendants Wise, his firm of Diesel Engineering and Maintenance Co., and the State of California.

The county won an order in October from Marin Municipal Court, stating that Wise must move the drydocks within 30 days.

Wise appealed and won in Superior Court on grounds that the case should have been tried in Superior Court and the state should have been named as a defendant.

Today's suit asks that Wise be ordered to move the drydocks and pay the county rental of $50 a month, since August 1966, when the drydocks were placed in the bay.

The county claims ownership of the underwater tidelands of the bay.

Car-Skid Injury

Car Battery Taken

The battery was stolen from her parked car last night, Mrs. C. A. Whittingham Jr. of 309 Corte Madera Avenue told Mill Valley police today.

Dixie Panel Wants More Salary Facts

Dixie School District trustees last night asked Supt. Dennie B. Willis for more information before they approve a proposed salary raise for teachers.

The superintendent proposed a salary schedule to begin at $5,600 rather than the present $5,400, with a top of $12,400 instead of the present $12,000. He also proposed a $500 yearly increment to be granted to qualified teachers after they reach the top of the salary schedule.

The Dixie School District trustees also:

FEDERAL FUNDS — Authorized Willis to apply for $52,949 in National Defense Education Act funds for use in geography, history and science. NDEA funds are matching funds for equipment and supplies, borne 50-50 by the federal government and the district.

PERSONNEL — Accepted 13 resignations and eight leaves of absence, and hired three teachers and one custodian.

IMPROVEMENTS Authorized the expenditure of up to $1,750 to install a watering system, plant trees and make other improvements at Dixie School.

Shotgun Firing Woman Is Held

Mrs. Robert G. Lucas, 45, of Tiburon, was taken to Napa State Hopsital for observation yesterday because sheriff's deputies feared she was a danger to herself and the community, after she reportedly fired a shotgun from her home at 2 Santa Ana Court.

Deputy Victor L. Carrara reported that Mrs. Lucas's mother phoned from San Francisco at 5:55 p.m. to warn deputies that her daughter had just told her by telephone she was going to kill herself and had been shooting a shotgun from the window and was tearing the house apart inside.

Deputy Carrara said he found Mrs. Lucas in bed at her residence, where the kitchen and bedroom had been "ripped apart" and found two bullet holes in the roof of the bedroom.

WHAT ALL THE FUSS IS ABOUT

Mr. Fluffy cocks a couple of rabbit ears and fixes a beady eye on a collection of eggs after yesterday's Easter egg hunt sponsored by Marinwood Park and Recreation Commission at the community center. He could be saying: "So that is what all the yelling was about?" It wasn't yelling, it was fun for his companions for the moment, Elaine Hards (left) and Pamela Blumenfield, both aged 3, and both of Marinwood. # Kashin Asks For Regional Action On Transit Needs

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — No new single-purpose regional agency, such as one for transit, should be created for the Bay Area until an overall multi-purpose authority, or regonial government, is in existence, Marin Transit District Mgr. Seymour Kashin declared today in San Francisco.

He spoke before the Joint Legislative Committee on Bay Area Regional Organization, headed by Assemblyman John T. Knox, D-Richmond.

Kashin declared, however, that the transportation problem in the Bay Area cannot be held in abeyance while the larger issue of a Bay Area regional authority is debated. As an alternate solution, he suggested a merger or an exercise of joint powers agreements among various existing transportation agencies in the North Bay counties so that all available resources can be pooled for a joint attack on the transportation problem.

"TOO MANY AGENCIES"

Kashin noted that Marin County Transit District was created in late 1964 and has been active since 1965, but nothing material in the way of operation has been undertaken to date. "This is in large measure due to the fractionalized approach," said Kashin. "Too many agencies are sharing responsibility for what is essentially a common problem. The result has been to deny the revenue produced by one transportation agency to another agency coping with a different facet of the same problem."

A committee of the San Francisco Bay Area Council told the legislative hearing yesterday leadership in beautification of buildings and control of air and water pollution by industrial plants should earn businessmen special awards.

The report to the legislature's Committee on Regional Organization also called for an educational program to increase general public awareness of the problem.

BLAME FOR THEFT

Yesterday, Assemblyman Knox announced that another committee's scrutiny of matters affecting Bay Area government had brought him to the conclusion that "weak state laws" had contributed to the recent $511,000 theft from the Association of Bay Area Governments.

The Assembly Municipal and County Government Committee, which Knox also heads, recently concluded its investigation of the theft.

Authorities are still seeking Thomas Truax, a top administrator of the Association of Bay Area Governments who disappeared at the same time the money was discovered missing.

"The theft itself illustrates dramatically that agencies created under provisions of the so-called Joint Exercise of Powers Act lack adequate financial checks and balances," said Knox.

SAFEGUARDS LACKING

"Each such agency is usually responsible for spending millions of dollars," he added, "yet each such agency is free from the tight fiscal safeguards imposed by law on cities and counties."

Knox reiterated his proposal for revising the joint powers statue, including requiring funds be deposited with County treasurers and the bonding of employees who handle agency funds or property.

Blue Ribbon Livestock Auctioned

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— A Fresno County high school student yesterday sold his prize champion Hereford steer for $966 at the conclusion of the Junior Grand National Livestock Exposition at the Cow Palace.

Sidney White, of the Sierra Joint Union High School sold the 1,050-pound animal to Carl Zwissig, a Sunol cattle rancher.

John Benedict, Butte County, sold his 950-pound steer to a San Francisco restaurant for 52 cents a pound. His animal brought the second highest sale price.

Wardeen Kinder, Sonoma County, received 75 cents a pound for her 212-pound champion Duroc hog, and top money in the sheep auction went to Mike Bauman, Sonoma County, for his 90-pound reserve champion Dorset lamb. He received $1 a pound for the animal.

Poverty Panel To Minimize Competition For Teen Jobs

The Marin Economic Opportunity Council, which will pay a minimum of $1.65 an hour to youngsters in its job program this summer, has agreed to minimize competition with the Neighborhood Youth Corps, which pays only $1.40.

Asst. County Administrator Thomas Campanella told the EOC panel last night that the county, which administers the Youth Corps summer job program, is concerned that the NYC program might be hurt by the higher pay offered by the EOC.

Members said they thought there was no real competition between the two programs, since there are more than enough underprivileged youngsters seeking work during the summer to fill up both.

EOC Chairman Arthur L. Brown promised, however, a special effort to coordinate the two job programs.

The EOC will offer jobs to about 100 youngsters this summer, and programs of various kinds to another 200.

The EOC's summer program this year will cost $68,400.

Board member Thomas W. Place reported on the success of efforts to get the county to administer the EOC-sponsored Group Service program for unmarried mothers and teen-aged marriages. The county has taken on the program and will spend $7,000 on it this year.

The summer youth program will have two paid staff members, a director receiving $625 a month, and an employment coordinator getting $600 a month.

Brown said the EOC will soon begin recruiting youths for the program, mostly in Marin City.

Marijuana Possession Charges Are Denied

Three East Bay men pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court Tuesday to charges that they possessed marijuana when searched by Novato police Monday morning.

Preliminary hearing was set for April 25 for Phillip James Butcher, 19, and Ray Clarence Stewart, 18, both of Berkeley, and Jesse Earl Boykin, 19, of Richmond.

NEW APARTMENTS IN STRAWBERRY

A master plan for 167 apartments like these and a 132-bed convalescent hospital on Seminary Drive in Strawberry won the approval of the Marin Couty Board of Supervisors yesterday. They will be built on 11 acres south of Ricardo Road. Owner Jacques Reutlinger of Berkeley plans studios, one and two-bedroom apartments in two and three-story structures. The project will be called Villa Laguna Apartments and Convalescent Home.

Ambulance Plan Costs Questioned

Proposals that emergency ambulance service in central Marin be divided into geographical zones and that the county pay more for the service were approved "in principle" yesterday by the board of supervisors.

The proposals were made by the Marin County Emergency Service Committee, created in February. The supervisors, however, declined to act on the proposals until their cost can be estimated by county staff.

HIGHER GUARANTEE

The chairman of the committee, Thomas Larke Jr., estimated they would double the county's present $7,000 annual cost for emergency ambulance service. His committee also recommended the county guarantee of $15 for uncollectable charges be raised to $25 plus $1 per mile.

Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella, however, opposed approval of the committee's recommendations until it considered whether they would be economically feasible. He also questioned the cost estimate, predicting it would be more than the committee figured.

BIDDING URGED

United Amublance and Doctors Ambulance now rotate emergency calls daily. An attorney for United, Richard Clark, objected that zoning for separate jurisdictions has not worked in Marin.

Instead, he argued the county should put the service out to bid. His client would be willing to give up the county guarantee if it could operate without competition, Clark said.

"The question is, 'To what extent should taxpayers subsidize artificial and probably wasteful competition,' " he said.

Larke's committee, however, argued against bids so the county will have both companies, each keeping the other on its toes.

FIRE AID CITED

Arguing for the county subsidy, Dr. Elmer Weden, a member of the committee, noted, "We don't charge the person who has a fire in his house for the services of the fire department."

The manager of Doctors Ambulance, Kenneth M. Hale, supported the committee's proposals.

The committee also recommended that the county maintain radios in the private companies' ambulances.

It dropped consideration of a county ambulance service, Larke said, because it would cost too much.

The committee is considering the use of helicopters as ambulances in West Marin, he said.

Improvers Elect In Marin City

Juanita Cobb was re-elected president of the Marin City Home Owners and Improvement Association last night as the group elected 1968 officers.

Mrs. Lincoln Simpson was named first vice president; Mrs. Alex Holloway, second vice president, Mrs. Alex Benson, third vice president and historian; Mrs. Mack H. Page, secretary, and Willie C. Hall treasurer.

The association agreed to provide refreshments for the April 20 dedication ceremonies at the new Marin City Community Center.

A candidates night will be sponsored by the association at 8 p.m. April 26 in the adult lounge of the new center. Supervisorial candidates and candidates for the Marin City Community Services District Board will be invited.

The meeting was adjourned in memory of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Airport Master Plan Rushed For Funds Bid

A tentative airport master plan, subject to future additions and changes, won the approval of the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

The plan calls for five airports and two heliports. Of the airports, four are existing facilities — the county airport two miles north of Novato, Hamilton Air Force Base, Smith Brothers Ranch airport adjacent to Northgate Industrial Park, and the seaplane base in Sausalito near Richardson Bay Bridge. The fifth is a proposed recreational airstrip at San Point near Tomales.

Two heliports in the tentative master plan are at Sausalito near Richardson Bay Bridge and a future pad somewhere at the Civic Center.

County Airport Manager Francis E. Torr said he drafted the tentative plan in a rush because such a plan is needed before the state Division of Aeronautics will accept Marin's application for airport aid for 1969-70. Deadline for the application is next Monday.

On a motion by Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, the supervisors approved the plan but suggested that the Marin Aviation Commission work with the county's Emergency Care Committee to consider other sites.

Storer said heliport pads should be considered in Stinson Beach and Point Reyes Seashore areas for quick evacuation of accident victims.

Chairman Ernest N. Kettenhofen noted that a heliport should be considered near Marin General Hospital, and Storer added that a passenger heliport somewhere in central Marin near the population center is also a possibility.

Airport Manager Torr said these will all be considered as future additions or alterations to the tentative master plan. He explained he drew up the plan by contacting individual members of the Marin Aviation Commission to meet next Monday's deadline for application for state aid.

Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

EXECUTIVE SECRETARY — Asked the county personnel commission to identify up to seven top secretarial positions in the county which would qualify as "executive secretary" and be in a class above the regular secretary category. The pay of this new category would be not more than one step above the $604 top salary paid to secretaries. Supervisor John F. McInnis cast the lone dissenting vote, saying he does not believe this special category is needed.

SOCIAL WORKERS UNION — Asked the county personnel commission to review the definition of "managerial employees" and the appeal procedure provided in the Employer-Employee Relations Policy adopted in January. The Marin County local of the Social Workers Union 535 asked for a change because the present wording seems to place supervisors in the Department of Public Social Services in the "managerial" category. The union wants to include the supervisors in the same bargaining unit with social workers.

FOREST FARM — Continued until next Tuesday a request by Jack R. Felson to expand Forest Farm Camp in Forest Knolls into 54 undeveloped acres next to Samuel P. Taylor Park.

ARMORY PARKING — Awarded an $11,978 contract to A. J. Bresnan Co. of San Rafael to pave a parking area for 250 cars next to the National Guard Armory on Madison Acenue near Washington Avenue, Santa Venetia.

MARIN CITY LANDSCAPE — If the Marin Redevelopment Agency will install landscaping on traffic islands on Donahue Street in Marin City and maintain it for one year, the county agreed to maintain the landscaping for the second year. Supervisors made no commitments beyond that.

MENTAL HEALTH — Authorized an application by the Mental Health Department between Aug. 1, 1968, and July 31, 1969.

SENIOR CITIZENS — Appropriated $100 to the Marin Senior Coordinating Control toward the costs of observing May as Senior Citizen's Month.

BICYCLE PROGRAM — Commended the Peter Pan Chapter of the Children's Home Society for its plan to try a pilot program in Marinwood and Lucas Valley to sell bicycle registrations to raise funds and to provide a central registry for missing bicycles.

SEWER DISTRICT — Approved formation by Sanitary District No. 1 of a sewer assessment district on Forrest Avenue in Fairfax.

NAVIGATION — Asked Congress to appropriate funds for harbors at Point Reyes and Tomales Bay and to dredge the Petaluma River and San Rafael Creek. Public Works Director Donald R. Frost noted funds for the Tomales Bay and San Rafael projects are not in the President's budget, and that funds for them "will be extremely difficult to achieve this year."

LARKSPUR BONDS — Called for the opening of bids on May 14 for Larkspur School District bonds totaling $191,000.

LIGHT STATION — Approved a resolution supporting Richmond's efforts to save an old Coast Guard light station on East Brothers Island off Point San Pablo, which was built in 1873. The Coast Guard wants to demolish the structure and install automatic signals.

MUIR BEACH REZONING — Approved rezoning the Muir Beach area to a minimum lot size of 10,000 square feet in the old beach area, to minimum one-acre sites in the highlands (Seascape Subdivision), and minimum two-acre sites on the steep cliffs on both sides of Muir Beach Overlook.

JUVENILE HALL ACCESS — Authorized the public works director to proceed with the expansion of the Mount Lassen Drive entrance to Juvenile Hall so that Juvenile Hall traffic can turn off Mount Lassen onto county property before reaching Mount Darwin Court. At present, Juvenile Hall traffic uses Mount Lassen all the way up to Idylberry Drive. A delegation of Lucas Valley residents appeared to ask supervisors for relief.

IN MEMORY — Adjourned in memory of the Rev. Martin Luther King.

Supervisors Heed Critic Of Civic Center Planting

The meager landscaping around the county's Civic Center is pretty sad, supervisors conceded yesterday.

Spurred by charges by a San Anselmo landscape architect, William L. Kapranos, that the landscaping is only a batch of "catch-alls of the nursery trade," the board asked the Civic Center committee to draw up guidelines so the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation can prepare a master plan for improving the grounds.

Kapranos had suggested that a local committee be formed to prepare the plan. However, architect Aaron Green of the Wright Foundation said the landscaping plan should be drawn by the foundation. But he said he would welcome some guidelines from the county about what sort of plan it wanted.

Green noted a landscaping plan should be drawn soon because one will be necessary for the hall of justice.

Mrs. Mary Summers, former county planning director, told the board that the county never had provided the Wright Foundation with such guidelines. She also noted that county maintenance workers have been butchering existing plants.

"We had a champagne appetite," said Supervisor Peter H. Behr, "but gave the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation a beer budget for landscaping, and now we're complaining about what we got."

Sea Ranch Rezoning Approved

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors has cleared the way for development of the planned community of Sea Ranch on the Sonoma coast by rezoning the land.

The board on Tuesday zoned the final two-thirds of the coastal acreage, previously unclassified, as planned community.

Hearing of an appeal on a use permit for the initial one-third was set for May 7 at 2:30 p.m.

The use permit includes a provision that the developers, Oceanic Properties Inc., donate to the county 100 acres of park land at the mouth of Gualala River. This would be in lieu of allowing six access corridors to the ocean through the Sea Ranch property. Lack of public ocean-front access is the basis of the appeal, filed by Charles Rhinehart, a Sonoma State College professor.

County Planning Director George Kovatich told the board the county would be faced with heavy expenditure if access were to be acquired through the northern 3,300 acres covered by Tuesday's rezoning.

Battery Thefts Plea Date Set

Paul Waldemar Brust, 22, of Novato, is to appear Tuesday in Marin Municipal Court to plead to a felony charge that he concealed stolen property in his home at 1008B Madrone Street, Novato.

The charge against Brust clears up 19 cases of automobile burglaries in the Novato area, according to Sgt. R. Richard Courier, juvenile officer of the Novato Police Department.

Courier charged yesterday that Brust was receiving the stolen goods from juveniles who stole from the cars.

Brust was arraigned on the charge in Municipal Court Tuesday.

Damage Reported To School Trucks

Asst. Supt. William G. Vanasen of Reed School District reported Tuesday to sheriff's deputies he discovered two district trucks were damaged Friday night.

About $200 damage included broken front and rear windshields and a tail light on one, a broken windshield and headlights on the other.

Two juvenile boy suspects, 4 and 7-years-old were questioned, but not cited due to their ages, deputies reported.

Seven Plead Innocent To Shootout Charges

OAKLAND (AP)—Seven Black Panthers have pleaded innocent to charges of assault with intent to commit murder during a shootout with Oakland police last Saturday night.

Preliminary hearing was set for April 22 by Superior Court Judge Stafford P. Buckely yesterday. He denied pleas to reduce bail for six of the accused from $40,000 each and from $63,000 for Eldridge Cleaver, the Black Panther minister of information.

Cleaver appeared in a wheelchair after being brought from the state prison hospital at Vacaville where he is held as a parole violator.

Judge Buckley took under advisement a defense motion to restrain Oakland police from harassing the defendants and their attorneys.

The motion was based on statements two of the men made to police. Wendell Wade, 23, said he signed his statement at gunpoint and that he was afraid the interrogating officer "would shoot me if I didn't." Another, Donnell Langford; 18, said his questioner told him "things would go very hard for me if I didn't give him the answer he wanted."

An eighth man arrested Saturday, John L. Scott, 17, faces two counts of assault with intent to commit murder and will be tried as a juvenile. He has had a hearing set for April 18.

Funeral services for the Panther treasurer, Bobby Hutton, 17, have been set for tomorrow morning at the Star Bethel Church. Hutton was shot by police Saturday night as he came out of a besieged house to surrender.

HONOLULU (AP) — The Honolulu estate of the late industrialist Henry J. Kaiser is for sale for $2.5 million.

The property includes six houses, all occupied now, and covers 308,950 square feet of land. The main house is marble-lined.

Extra include sunken bathtubs, built-in television, private garden, radio-controlled gates, telephones located throughout the grounds, intercom system, stereo music and Olympic size swimming pool.

Mrs. Kaiser is in New York and is expected to make that city her home. Kaiser died Aug. 24, 1967, at the age of 85.

Judge Again Urges Schools To Join Court Education

Alvin H. Goldstein Jr., presiding judge of Marin Municipal Court, has again asked Tamalpais, Redwood, San Rafael and Novato high schools to participate in a program of courtroom education for government classes.

The program, joined so far by only four of the eight high schools of the county, enables the classes to visit Municipal Courts "and study at first hand the operation of our judicial system," the judge said.

Since his first invitation, Judge Goldstein said, "there has been a disturbance involving about 80 high school students and numerous arrests of high school students on marijuana charges. These latter arrests have included at least one youngster who was a candidate for student body president."

The disturbance referred to involved students from Tamalpais High, one of the four which did not respond to the court's invitation. Marijuana arrests involve students from all high schools, but the student body presidential candidate referred to was also from Tamalpais.

"Young people in their late teens and early 20s are crowding the criminal calendar . . . Rule of law must prevail in this country and respect of law can be encouraged through education, understanding and by personal contact with our legal system," Judge Goldstein said.

Fifty students from Tomales Union High School were the first to participate in the courtroom program, on March 12, 14 and 15.

They spent 15 hours in court, observing small claims, contested traffic trials, a civil jury trial, criminal court trials, preliminary hearings in felony cases and the probation sentencing and criminal arraignment classes.

Marin Catholic students are in the court rooms this week and students from Terra Linda High will be there next week.

"Our first experience was a good one," Judge Goldstein said. "Student questions were intelligent and their deportment was outstanding. For most of these students it was a first confrontation with our legal system, its capacity to dispense justice and to exact penalties for violation of law."

Judge Goldstein said his second invitation to the high schools was prompted by the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

"It is not enough to demand law and order. Justice is the battle cry and our teen-agers must understand that it is the purpose of the courts of this nation to dispense justice. They must appreciate that, in a free society boasting of a representative government, one cannot change the law by taking it into his own hands."

Paratroopers Being Rotated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon says it has begun rotating 1,350 paratroopers sent to Vietnam on an emergency basis last February back to the United States.

Coming home are members of the 82nd Airborne Division's 3rd brigade task force who had been home from Vietnam less than a year before they were sent back.

The Pentagon said it plans to have men who had been home less than six months back in the United States by May 31.

The 82nd Airborne Division is based at Fort Bragg, N.C.

Rare Watch, $7,500 Ring Thefts Probed

A rare watch, a $7,500 diamond ring and a gold and silver coin collection were stolen from Jack V. Singer's home at 20 Rancheria Road, Kent Woodlands, Monday, sheriff's deputies reported yesterday.

Singer told the officers someone who knew where he stored his valuables entered his bedroom, took a hidden safe key and stole the items from a safe in his closet.

The stolen watch is one of only two of its kind, he said. It is platimun with diamond hands and numerals and worth $2,000.

The missing coins include six or eight books of silver dollars, about 300 loose cartwheels several books of 50 cent pieces, about 40 rolls of nickels and a few $5 and $10 gold pieces.

Other burglaries reported by deputies yesterday were:

The theft of a Persian rug, television, furniture, clothing, food and dishes from the Anna S. Weiss home on Upper Spring Road, Lagunitas, sometime during the last five weeks.

The attempted theft of a truck belonging to Rudolph Habenich of San Francisco and parked in a garage on the Redwood Acre Ranch in Lucas Valley Road.

The truck was found Sunday, stuck in a ditch on the ranch. Deputies assumed that someone tried to steal it the night before.

Wife Of Actor Granted Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charging "he was very rude to me," actress Christine Kaufmann, 23, has won an uncontested divorce from actor Tony Curtis.

Curtis, 41, didn't attend the five-minute hearing yesterday in Superior Court. Miss Kaufmann testified that she became nervous and lost weight during the nearly five years they were together. Terms of settlement were not disclosed.

The German-born actress became Curtis' second wife in a ceremony Feb. 8, 1963, at Las Vegas, Nev. A separation was announced last November.

Curtis has said he plans to marry model Leslie Allen, 24, of Newton, Mass. Friends of the actor say the couple will marry April 20 in Beverly Hills.

Doctor's Narcotics Case Is Continued

The case of Dr. Donald Churchill of Sausalito, charged with illegally prescribing narcotics and falsifying medical records, was continued until April 23 in San Francisco Superior Court yesterday.

A hearing on a motion to supress evidence in the case is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. in Department 22 of the Hall of Justice.

Fight Over $25,000 Fund Slice Pledged

The Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission yesterday pledged itself to fight hard for the retention of a $25,000 site acquisition fund clipped from next year's budget by County Administrator Alan Bruce.

The requested total budget figure of $507,000 had been pared to $479,000 by Bruce, but the abolition of the site acquisition fund was the only item over which there was major disagreement.

Chariman Melton Ferris said the commission was unanimous in confirming its policy and would keep "pounding the table" until the fund was retained.

Commented Commissioner Gibbs Lawson: "And that will only happen when the county loses a choice park position because we have no site fund available."

Ferris said the fund must have priority on the agenda for the next workshop session with the board of supervisors. "We must not abandon it," he said.

Pierre W. Joske, director of parks and recreation, said that as it stood, the budget for park administration, maintenance and development alone represented an increase in the tax rate of two cents per $100 assessed valuation over this year.

Even with the administrator's recommendations, the increase would still be 1.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation, he said.

Marin Parks-Recreation Commission Also:

REST ROOMS — Discussed means of providing rest room facilities at Inverness as a result of an increase in use of the area for family recreation. Instructed the director to make inquiries about possible land acquisition.

UPLANDS — Noted a discrepency in cost estimates for the purchase of land at Tiburon Uplands for recreational use between assessors of the federal government and the county. Joske was instructed to negotiate further, using figures arrived at by the county assessor.

EMBLEM — Discussed the design for a parks and recreation department emblem for staff uniforms, expected next fiscal year, and left Commissioner Elizabeth Davies to work with staff on ideas.

Collegian Goes Berserk At Home

LAFAYETTE (AP) — A Sonoma State College student home for Easter vacation went berserk last night, beat his father with a cane, chased his mother into the back yard and strangled her, Sheriff's Deputy Hans De Graef said.

When officers arrived, summoned by neighbors, Gregory Busch, 21, was prostrate on the ground beside the body of his mother, Mrs. Georgia Busch, 64.

The father, Oscar, 63, a mathematics teacher at Acalanes High School here, was taken to Kaiser Hospital in Walnut Creek for treatment of abrasions and shock. His condition prevented deputies from questioning him.

Young Busch was taken to the psychiatric ward of the Contra Costa County Hospital in Martinez. He was held on suspicion of murder.

Property Values Vs. The Negro

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A population researcher says increased Negro population of a neighborhood doesn't decrease property values.

The Negro does not "invade" a neighborhoid, says John M. McQuiston of University of Southern California's population research laboratory. The neighborhood "is bequeathed to him by the Caucasian who has moved on to newer and more desirable housing."

Property values don't begin their decline when Negroes arrive, McQuiston said yesterday following a survey. "By then, that trend has already been long established."

Larkspur Fire Department Volunteers are headed by Neil White as president.

The aircraft carrier Enterprise is the longest ship ever built, measuring 1,123 feet.

TRAIL OF HOPE

Making The Stations Of The Cross

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press

The brave also fall. The innocent suffer. The good men are laid low. "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" It was the ancient Psalmist's cry, and it echoes down the troubled trail of time.

Yet hints of hope mark that rugged road. The noblest and the best have walked there. It's rough, and in a mystery, redemptive. It is the course of the King, the Way of the Cross.

"Surely he has bourne our griefs," the prophet Isaiah foresaw. "He was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities . . . with his stripes we are healed."

STATIONS OF CROSS

In this season commemorating the death and resurrection of Jesus, believers reflect particularly on that strange and somber path he took, and seek to enter into its meaning.

By long church tradition, Christians regularly have focused devotions on that hard, right route he went — even as they have sought to recognize that continued calling in the modern crucibles of life.

In the devotional observances, it's known as making the Stations of the Cross.

Customarily there are 14 of them, designated along the sides of many Catholic churches, although in some of the more recent, simpler interiors, the extensive altar statuary and symbols have been omitted.

SPECIAL THOUGHTS

But the significance of that anguished way remains a key to Christian understanding, and in this season, a map of special meditation.

The devotional stations, or stops, along the melancholy march are intended to recall the poignant incidents of the ordeal that Jesus underwent from his condemnation through his death and burial.

In Jerusalem, the route is called the Via Dolorosa — the Street of Sorrows. It winds a half mile westward across the old city, from the ancient Roman praetorium, where Jesus was judged, to the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, the traditional place where he was crucified and buried.

Thousands of visiting pilgrims pause in thought at the stations designated along that narrow, twisting way. The stations are:

1. The old pavement, or open court, beside Fort Antonia, where the Roman governor, Pilate, sentenced Jesus to execution, had him flogged to weaken him, and turned him over to a military detail for execution. "They will deliver you up to councils," Jesus had told his men. "You will be hated for my name's sake. But he who endures to the end will be saved."

2. Jesus, a loop of thorns jammed on his head, lifts the crosspiece to his lacerated shoulders, and starts out. "Father, forgive them."

3. He falls the first time.

4. He meets his grieving mother, Mary.

5. An African bystander, Simon of Cyrene, takes the cross from Jesus to carry it for him.

6. A sobbing follower, Veronica, wipes his blood-streaked face with a napkin.

7. He falls again.

8. He speaks to some distressed women. "Daughters of Jerusalem, weep not for me."

9. He falls a third time.

10. He is stripped. The soldiers "divided his garments among them by casting lots."

11. They nail him to the crossbeam, and hoist it to the upright. "My God, my God, why has thou forsaken me?"

12. He dies. "It is finished."

13. A leading citizen, Joseph of Arimathea, with Pilate's permission, has the body removed.

14. Jesus is buried in Joseph's garden tomb.

Some modern theologians say the traditional sequence of meditations should not end there, centered on Jesus' death, but should also include the ensuing resurrection, which points beyond the dying of the good and trampling of the just, the event that surmounts the baffling tragedies of life, that glimpses a finer future, which guarantees that, despite the temporary setbacks, right wins, after all.

Jewish Center Plunge Open House Planned

The Marin Jewish Community Center will hold a special preview of its new swimming pool from noon to 5 p.m. May 11 and 12. Members and nonmembers are invited to look and swim. The center is located at 200 N. San Pedro Road in San Rafael.

The pool will be open seven days a week from Memorial Day to Labor Day and on weekends through September. Swimming lessons will be available by pre-registration to the general public.

Letters Ruined In Mailbox Fire

Several dozen letters were destroyed by fire in a drop-in letter box in Marinwood Tuesday about 4 p.m.

Apparently someone dropped a burning piece of paper into the mailbox at the corner of Blackstone Drive and Miller Creek Road, Fire Chief James W. Cameron reported. Firemen poured dry chemical through the letter drop opening to douse the flames.

"There must have been two or three dozen letters," said Cameron. "Some letters were partially burned but most of them were destroyed."

The chief notified the sheriff's office for investigation.

A passerby noticed smoke pouring out of the mailbox and called firemen at 4:17 p.m.

"PEPPER, PEPPER, PEPPER," are the words being repeated by Mrs. Bruce Keppel of Tiburon, as she rehearses for her role as cook in the Mountain Play, "Alice Through the Looking Glass" to be presented May 19 and 26 on Mount Tamalpais. The role of cook is a natural for Mrs. Keppel, shown in the kitchen of the Tiburon restaurant of which she is a co-owner.

THESPIAN-COOK

Sandy Peppers Up Mountain Play

By BETTY FROST

Talk about type-casting! Mrs. Bruce Keppel of Tiburon will play the part of the cook in the Mountain Play production "Alice Through the Looking Glass" on Mount Tamalpais May 19 and 26.

The effervescent Sandy Keppel, long admired as a gourmet cook by her Tiburon Peninsula friends, is the co-owner, with Mrs. Robert Boat of Tiburon, of a Mexican restaurant in the waterfront town. She is frequently to be seen these days with the play book in one hand, and a large ladle in the other, rehearsing her role in the restaurant's business-like kitchen.

An enthusiast about little theater work, Sandy has often taken part in Cove Players productions and is a 10 year veteran of the mountain plays. In the spirit of the amateur theater, the Keppels make their participation a family affair. Bruce Keppel is also in the cast, taking the part of Tweedie Dum, and Nori, 12, is the Pudding.

The Keppels have lived in Marin since 1946, with the exception of a two year stay in Yokohama, Japan, beginning in 1956, when Lt. Comdr. Keppel was recalled to active duty.

"We were living in Lexington, Mass., during the World War II years, and when Bruce came back from overseas, housing was very hard to get. Bruce's mother, Mrs. Charles Keppel of San Rafael, had heard of a house available in San Rafael, so we moved west," the actress-restaurateur told us. After a few months in San Rafael, they built a home in Paradise Cove, and have lived there ever since.

The Keppels have five children, a married son, Victor, who is teaching in New Zealand; Jon, who is studying for his teaching credential at San Francisco State College; Mrs. Gregory Yuhas (the former Claudia Keppel), now living in Saratoga, N. Y.; Charles, a senior at Redwood High School, and Nori, in the seventh grade at Del Mar School. Their granddaughter, Lisa, 1, lives in New Zealand.

"By the time Nori graduates from grammar school, I will have spent 22 years in the Reed District Parent-Teacher Club!" Sandy laughed.

Born in Kansas City, Mo., Mrs. Keppel grew up in St. Paul, Minn. She attended St. Catharine's College and the University of Minnesota.

During the years of her residence in Marin, the vivacious brunette has worked with many youth groups, beginning with Cub Scouts and Bluebirds. Now her major community contribution is with SERVE, the ecumenical program of Tiburon Peninsula churchwomen bringing assistance to patients at the Marin Convalescent and Rehabilitation Hospital in Tiburon.

"We do not give awards for hours contributed in our program," says Mrs. Dickerson McAfee, SERVE chairman, "but Sandy would certainly qualify as one of our top volunteers. We especially appreciate her efforts because she is such a busy person."

Mrs. Keppel tries to spend a least two hours a week at the hospital. She usually brings homemade cookies to the elderly patients who enjoy a bit of home cooking. "And one of the patients loves Mexican food, so once in a while I bring her something special from the restaurant as a little treat," Sandy says. "When we can get enough drivers to assist, we bring five or six of the patients to luncheon at our place. Dorothy Boat helps me, and we try to give them special attention. We think the change of getting out does them a lot of good," the capable Sandy explained.

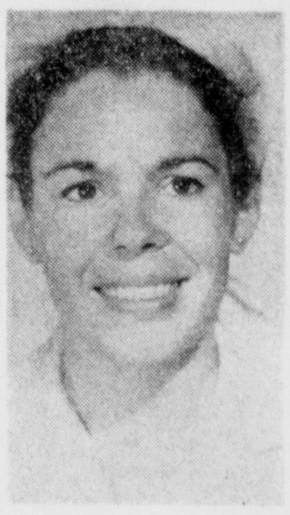
"Then every year when spring rolls around we start thinking about the mountain play." . . . Petter, pepper, pepper" mutters the real-life "looking glass" cook in her best thespian style.

Marinite Treats Africans With Peace Corps Program

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

News in several letters from Susan Danford, who is serving with the Peace Corps in Niger, Africa, will be of interest to friends and acquaintances in Marin.

Susan, who is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. P. R. Danford of Mill Valley, enrolled in the Peace Corps in 1967 after teaching parisitology as a medical technician working under Dr. Samuel Nerenberg at Children's Hospital in San Francisco.



SUSAN DANFORD

HER FIRST responsibility was establishing a laboratory in a small hospital. She writes that they have 30 to 40 patients in the hospital housed in five rooms—which would normally hold three beds—and six grass huts. The complicating problem is that each patient has from one to four family members with him.

In addition to caring for these patients they also see from 100 to 200 out-patients each morning with diseases ranging from colds, venereal disease, trachoma and conjuctivitis to TB malaria and anemia, the last three being very prevalent. Patients have to be watched when they take pills because they spit out the less tasty ones.

"We see lots of burns," she writes, "even on tiny babies. These people have an unbelievable ability for falling in fires."

Susan has many problems that include working with very primitive equipment in the lab, long, exhausting hours of work in the hot climate and limited kinds of food available, but she says that the "African staff is marvelous—they have such a great sense of humor."

SUSAN ALSO has had to make trips into country where there are no roads and only a guide knows the way in order to take smallpox, measles, yellow fever and TB vaccines to natives. They are the first white people some of them have ever seen, she writes, and they are amazed at the truck that has a loud speaker, calling it the truck that talks.

One hardship she mentions is a fine white dust that blows down from the Sahara and hangs in the air affecting sinuses and eyes.

Venereal disease presents special difficulties because they never treat a patient without treating the mate. There are many divorced women, Susan says, who are telling the truth when they say they have no mates, but the men lie, since they may have as many as four wives and would have to bring them all in for treatment. If they are Moslem, however, and are asked to swear on the Koran, they will tell the truth.

Being present at a birth by caesarian section under improper conditions was almost too much for her though the final result was all right.

Despite all the difficulties, Susan writes that she enjoys her work because she feels they are accomplishing something.

Things she appreciates receiving from this country are dried fruits (especially apple sauce) and vegetables—which should be labeled preserved food rather than dehydrated because of higher duty costs on dehydrated. Also welcome are gelatin, bacon bars, milk shake mix, sour cream sauce mix, and parmesan cheese.

Train To Teach Sex Education

NEW YOR K (UPI)—All you birds and bees, be on the lookout for more attention from public and parochial school marms.

Dr. Mary S. Calderone, executive director of the Sex Information and Education Council of the United States (SIECUS), reports that sex education courses for such have practically tripled as compared to the number offered last year this time. The courses are summer workshops. The aim of all this: healthy sexuality and successful family living. The teachers want to know because they want to communicate to students.

Long Active With Handicapped In Marin, She Also Enjoys Painting

Mrs. James Barry of Larkspur, long active in Marin's Easter Seal activity, has spent much of her life dedicated to helping handicapped children and adults throughout the area.

Employed as program coordinator with the Marc Marin Work Training Center, a shelter for handicapped adults, it is Mrs. Barry's duty to develop test and training programs for the handicapped.

"It is the plan of the center to lead the handicapped in training and gradual job placement," Mrs. Barry explained.

Prior to her present position, Mrs. Barry worked with the San Rafael School District as speech therapist which gave her ample opportunity to help with the development of many Marin youngsters.

She has been active with the Easter Seal Society since 1958, when she served as chairman of its Speech Clinic Committee. For six years, she served on the board of directors of the society and is a past president of the Easter Seal Auxiliary.

Her own family — including Jeff, 11, and Denise, 7 — are most active and spend long weekends skiing.

With her many busy activities, Mrs. Barry still finds time to cook and enjoy doing occasional oil paintings and mosaics.

The current Marin Easter Seal Drive is underway with a goal set at $27,000. Funds raised will help Marin's 300 handicapped children and adults in a wide range of activities as therapy, professional training and recreation.

SUSAN JEAN Enemark became the bride of Donald Edgar Warwick on Saturday at the Meadow Club, where the reception also was held. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Enemark of San Rafael. The couple will live in Los Osos.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Why Keep It A Secret That You Wear Braces On Teeth?

I just recently got fitted to braces for my teeth. They hardly show, because of my smile, and they don't hurt my popularity. I'm not telling anyone about my hardware mouth. Might get teased.

My question is, will a boy know I wear braces when he kisses me?

BRACED AND READY

DEAR B and R:

Probably. More to the point, you'll know you're wearing braces when he kisses you, unless you tell him. Lips that hide hardware can't stand much pressure.

And what's with the secrecy? If your family lays out some $1500 for braces, the least you can do is grin and bare 'em! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I have an identical twin sister. Sometimes we get each other out of jams. Like last night, she wanted to go out with a new guy but had a date with another boy. So I stood in for her.

Everything went fine, until he said he was taking me home. When he went out of the way, I knew we weren't. He parked, and next thing I knew he was Romeo the Second. Wow! I couldn't convince him I wasn't playing games until I slapped him across the face. Then he roared home without speaking and didn't even take me to the door. Just mumbled something about how I'd changed.

He hasn't called my sister since, but she doesn't mind because she doesn't like him. What worries me is, if boys she doesn't even like expect this of her, she's headed for big trouble. Should I have a talk with Mom?

AFRAID FOR SIS

DEAR A for S:

Your letter, even after I edited some sense into it, still sounds unbelievable, but just in case you aren't putting me on, here's my advice:

Have a talk with "sis" first. If you twins are close enough to exchange dates, you are close enough to hash over problems. Sisterly advice and concern often straightens a girl out faster than a big lecture from above. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Do you think a mother should be at home with her child on the child's birthday?

More than once my mom has been away for mine. Sure, she leaves presents behind, but it's not much fun opening them by yourself.

She doesn't have to be away; it's just for pleasure. Once when I was younger, she called me on my birthday, and I started crying. So now she doesn't call any more.

When she's home, I used to kiss her good-night, but it annoyed her, so stopped. We hardly ever do things together. It's lonely here.

Now I've turned to my girl friend's mother because I can talk things over with her and feel sort of like a daughter. She helps ease the pain, except it's probably just silly self-pity. Am I being disloyal?

—NOT SO SAD ANY MORE

DEAR NOT SAD:

No, you're not disloyal. A mother who won't take time for her daughter deserves a daughter who looks for a mother elsewhere. I'm so very glad you found one!

I hope your letter hits your mother where she lives—wherever that is.—H.

'WELL, HOW DO I LOOK?'

Tots tried on Easter finery in anticipation of the Easter parade at a New York department store. As the photographer snapped the picture clerks searched for the right descriptive word — chic, Mod, pert, cute, smart, adorable, stunning, fashionable, attractive, bouncy, gay, eye-catching, springy, bright, merry, in an attempt to search for just the "right hat" for each tot.

Easter Marketing: Ham Shows Price Rise Here

WASHINGTON (UPI) — USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reports that Easter and other weekend shoppers will find ample supplies of meat and poultry and good stocks of some fresh vegetables and fruit in food stores and supermarkets.

Broiler-fryer chickens and turkeys will again appear as the most abundant meats. Pork cuts that should be in ample supply include chops, roasts, bacon, and ham, the traditional favorite for the Easter dinner. Beef cuts in the featured class this weekend are roasts and steaks, and ground beef in some areas. North Pacific halibut steaks and fish fillets are fish buys to watch for, according to the U.S. Department of the Interior.

Cabbage, carrots, and potatoes are again the most abundant fresh vegetables. Ample stocks of oranges, apples, and bananas should also appear at the fresh fruit counters.

NOW LET'S take a closer look at food supplies in the West (Arizona, California, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, Oregon, Utah, Washington, Wyoming):

Pork prices are showing some increase in Southern California this week, but price trends are generally mixed in most West Coast markets. Wholesale listings on beef are slightly lower in Portland and in Los Angeles.

BOTH FRESH and cured skinned hams are up in San Francisco; Boston butts, however, are down in the Bay Area. Ready-to-cook chicken fryers are lower in California markets and are also showing a slight decrease in Seattle. Young hen turkeys are higher in Los Angeles.

Fruits and vegetables in best supply include apples, bananas, grapefruit, oranges, asparagus, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, lettuce, and potatoes.

Best fish buys for the West are: North Pacifc halibut steaks, ocean perch, cod and sole fillets, rockfish, dungeness crab, Pacific oysters, and canned tuna.

Mrs. David Park Is Fund Drive Chairman For Planned Parenthood

Mrs. David Park of San Rafael, 1968 fund-drive chairman for the Planned Parenthood Association of Marin, is a newcomer to Marin but not to the work of this international organization of family planning advisors.

Virginia Park still has the soft southern speech of her birthplace, Houston, where she began her interest in Planned Parenthood. Mrs. Park spends every Monday morning at the clinic, doing everything from maintaining the files and writing letters for the fund drive to answering the telephone.

She is particularly enthusiastic about her job because this year, for the first time a donor has offered a gift of $3,000 if a like amount can be raised from the community from new supporters of Planned Parenthood.

"This gives all of us, particularly the young women in the newly formed auxiliary, a tremendous chance to make every gift we get count for twice as much," Mrs. Park said.

Why a family planning agency interest in one so young? (Mrs. Park is 31). "I got interested in Planned Parenthood when my second child arrived only 20 months after the first," she said with her quick smile. Her youngsters are David, 4, and Betsy, 2. A babysitters' co-op in her neighborhood lets her spend the much-needed hours at the clinic.

Planned Parenthood isn't her only interest, however. Virginia is an elder of St. Luke's Presbyterian Church where she works with the leaders of junior high and high school church groups, a member of the Guild of the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum and of the Junior League of San Francisco.

Golf and gardening occupy any time she has left in her schedule.

MR AND MRS. DENNIS Gerald Chase were united in marriage at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato. Mrs. Chase is the former Linda Ann Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson of Novato.

Engagement Announced

The engagement of Lynne Doreen Fulkerson and Thomas L. Jones is announced by her parents, the Harold H. Fulkersons of San Rafael.

The future bride is a graduate of San Rafael High School, and she and her fiance will both be graduated in June from Fresno State College. Laurie Jean Fulkerson of San Rafael and Mrs. Stephen Morris of Long Beach are her sisters.

Thomas is the son of Mrs. Frankie Quillin of Fresno. Charles Jones, also of Fresno, is his brother. He attended Fresno High School and Fresno City College before enrolling at Fresno State College and is employed by Crocket Brothers Dodge in Fresno.

A June 15 wedding is planned.

Pins are ready to perch everywhere this spring — on hats, ascots, lapels, pockets, overblouses. As personal as a signature, they add a touch of individuality to every costume. # Packaging Keeps Seafood Fresher

A new pasteurization process has been developed which eliminates contamination and prevents bacteria build-up in fresh cooked shrimp and crabmeat as a result of Ralph Nader's recent disclosure of unsanitary conditions existing in many fish processing plants.

This purified product is being processed at present by a seafood company in Oregon and Marin housewives interested in trying this fresh product can find it in a supermarked chain in San Rafael and San Anselmo.

"WE ARE KEEPING THE LID ON!!"

Almost three years ago we advised our customers "Buy in July" the federal excise tax is being removed. Now we are advising "Buy now, in April, before the increase comes."

No doubt you have read about the fluctuating price of gold. We are daily receiving correspondence from our suppliers, who like us, do not know where the gold prices will stabilize. All reports seem to indicate that an INCREASE of between 14% to 20% soon.

In our 39 years in the Jewelry business, 17 years serving Marin, we have endeavored to be fair to our customers. Therefore, with the Easter Season, Mother's Day, Wedding and Graduation Seasons rapidly approaching, we are going to "Keep The Lid On" our gold prices, for both our in stock merchandise and special order items until April 30. If we can foresee justification to extend this date further we will certainly do so.

Our reason for this "guarantee of gold prices" is so that you may shop now, for your present and future needs, and have the opportunity to BUY NOW AND SAVE.

Katharine Hepburn, Rod Steiger, 'Heat Of Night' Take Top Oscars

SANTA MONICA — (UPI) Katharine Hepburn, Rod Steiger and "In the Heat of The Night" were the three big winners of the 40th annual Academy Awards presentations last night.

It was the second Oscar for Miss Hepburn who won best actress for her performance of a mother whose daughter is involved in an interracial marriage in "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner."

Miss Hepburn, angry because a photographer allegedly snapped a picture of her while she sunbathed in the nude, today refused any comment on winning her Oscar.

The veteran actress is in Nice, France, filming "The Madwoman of Chaillot." She reported for work as usual.

Steiger took the best actor award for his portrayal of a bigoted small town cop in "In the Heat of the Night."

"In the Heat of the Night" collected five Oscars to lead the parade. And it was the first winning picture to deal with a racial theme.

"It's about time movies faced up to that," said Steiger.

Former Oscar winner Sidney Poitier, who presented the best actress award, also commented on "In the Heat of the Night", in which he co-starred: "It is a measure of Hollywood's maturity over the past 10 years."

Newcomer Estelle Parsons, making her movie debut in "Bonnie and Clyde," was voted the best supporting actress of 1967 for her part as the lame-brained member of the Clyde Barrow gang, providing much of the picture's comic relief.

Burly George Kennedy ran away with the best supporting actor laurels for his role as a bestial convict in "Cool Hand Luke." It was the actor's first nomination.

Mike Nichols was honored for the second straight year as best director for "The Graduate," a comedy of sexual mores in the suburbs.

Miss Hepburn last won an Oscar in 1933 for "Morning Glory." Her statuette was accepted by a long-time friend, director George Cukor.

KATHARINE HEPBURN
Angry at press

Steiger had been nominated three times previously, but this was his first win.

He told the star-filled audience at Santa Monica Civil Auditorium: "I find it unbelievable and overwhelming. I thank the public which has been so kind to me."

Backstage the actor said, "I didn't expect to win. The worst thing you can do is come here expecting to win. If you do, you better bring a gun to shoot yourself if you lose."

In her acceptance speech for best supporting actress, Miss Parsons thanked Broadway producer David Merrick for allowing her to miss a performance in her new play, "The Seven Descents of Myrtle." Later she said, "I'm surprised our picture, 'Bonnie and Clyde,' didn't win."

Best supporting actor Kennedy said, "This is the happiest moment of my life."

Bob Hope was master of ceremonies of the show which was broadcast via ABC-TV and ran more than 20 minutes over its planned two-hour schedule.

"Talk to the Animals" from "Doctor Dolittle" was voted best song of the year. Producer-Director Alfred Hitchcock was given the honorary Irving Thalberg Award for his contributions to cinema for more than 30 years.

Academy President Gregory Peck opened the program with a solemn eulogy to the late Dr. Martin Luther King: "This has been a fateful week in the history of our nation. We join with members of the industry and men of good will everywhere in paying profound respects to (his) memory..."

Thereafter the gaiety of the show business took over. The Negro entertainers and presenters who had declined to appear on the show on Monday, rejoined the presentations after the awards had been postponed two days in memory of the slain civil rights leader.

ART REVIEW

One Show Leads, Another Guides; Both Are Good

By LAURA DEVENDORF

One show spells out what it is and how to view it while the other leaves it up to you. But the results are the same. Both of Mill Valley's new art exhibits, Bill Brewer's through May 4 at Anima Mundi, 352 Miller Ave. and Inez Storer's through April 20 at the public library, are interesting to see.

Brewer's exhibit title, "Symbolic devices for contemplation and meditation in the 21st Century," prepares you to meditate the meaning of his collages which look something like futuristic totems.

Constructed from cut-up type, magazine photographs and tissue paper, these small deeply overlaid collages have a very organized look in spite of their many, tiny inner patterns. The bits and pieces are fun to explore, but together they create a unified symbol, one mysterious enough to invite some real imagining.

In addition, Brewer shows some very enjoyable hangings constructed from clay, shells, feathers, string and hunks of old metal.

Having recently reviewed Mrs. Storer's work and having no preview testimony as to her current intent, her library exhibit comes as something of a surprise.

There are no armadillos nor purely decorative pieces. And with the exception of one very painterly suggestion of a head reduced through four phases from a hot-toned skull to a final, split-oval outline, even her figurative work is missing.

Her colors, happily, are the same whites and scraped blacks at times highlighted with yellows, rich oranges and reds. It's her format that has changed. In this group her subjects come from her mind expressed in circles and squares which are cut by lines ranging from pen-thin scratches to thickened planes.

Her weakest efforts come when simply placing a circle on a square although, oddly for this kind of stark approach, they are more interesting up close. And in one, where four individual paintings are attached to a white square, the separate pieces would have been more pleasing seen alone.

But in general, Mrs. Storer is successful, especially in several paintings devoted to imaginative variations on dots. And the one place she never misses is in her understanding of color and texture, both actual and suggested.

Her grading of grays and white, her placement of hotter hues, her over-painting of metal and gold leaf, and her scraping away of areas is always subtle and very painterly. Her canvases don't spell it out for you but they kindle real and pleasant responses which seem much deeper and more personal for their lack of definition.

Marinites' Exhibit

The works of Marin artist Laura Devendorf and Julian Wood will be featured at the Arlene Lind Gallery, 473 Jackson Street, San Francisco, starting Tuesday through May 9. Mrs. Devendorf, who is also art critic for the Independent-Journal, will exhibit paintings and Wood will show sculpture.

Collages Display

Ray Ward Jr. of Lucas Valley will exhibit collages combining casein and original western newspapers at Gallery III in the Marin Co-Op Center, 69 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera starting April 18.

Deputies said two persons reported their animals have died from poisoning. They are Richard Adams of 31 McAlister and Susan Brennan of 46 Berens Drive.

The meat was found on a front lawn in the neighborhood, deputies said.

Poles Elect, Hear Zionist Purge Demand

WARSAW (UPI)—The Polish Parliament today unanimously elected Defense Minister Marian Spychalski as president at a session at which a Catholic deputy called for a speedup in the purge of pro-Israeli Jews from government jobs.

Spychalski, 62, an old friend of Communist Party leader Wladyslaw Gomulka, and a victim of past Stalinist repression, succeeds Edward Ochab in the largely ceremonial post. Ochab, 61, resigned because of poor health and failing eyesight.

Before the deputies voted they heard Boleslaw Piasecki, head of the Catholic Pax Association, call the presence of Pro-Israeli Jews in government "extremely harmful."

"The faster they go the faster the anti-Polish campaign will end," he said.

Piasecki also urged the dismissal of "revisionist" professors in the universities whom he blamed for misleading students during a week of demonstrations last month.

The Communist Party newspaper Trybuna Ludu meanwhile added two more names to the list of officials purged in the current campaign.

They were Izrael Rabinowicz, deputy director of a textile factory in Lodz, and Przemyslaw Granas, a director of the same factory. They were charged with mismanagement.

Toll Believed 51 In Ferry Capsizing

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (UPI)—Skindivers failed today in efforts to find survivors in the partially submerged hull of the huge ferry boat Wahine, which capsized during New Zealand's worst storm in memory.

Police said the final death toll probably would be about 51. They had recovered 46 bodies. They said 727 persons were aboard the ferry when it struck a reef in nearby Worser Bay. It later heeled over in raging typhoon winds of 125 miles-an-hour yesterday.

The revised police figures listed 676 survivors. The boat carried 605 passengers and a crew of 122. With the 46 known dead, this left five persons unaccounted for. The dead included 24 women, 20 men and two children. All of the 21 dead identified were New Zealanders.

Printed Arrest Forms Ruled Out

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The state Supreme Court has outlawed what it calls the "Los Angeles police pattern" of printed arrest warrant forms.

The court ruled 4-3 yesterday, pursuant to recent U.S. Supreme Court decisions, to invalidate printed forms which merely recite the law defining the offense.

Warrants must provide facts on which a judge can determine if there is reason to believe the individual involved has committed a crime, it said.

The ruling reversed Los Angeles forgery conviction of Gerald Sesslin, of Bell Gardens, and Frank Harper of Los Angeles.

Zoo's New African Animal Home Opens

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The African Scene, a broad new expanse of running room for animals, was dedicated yesterday at the San Francisco Zoo.

Surrounded by a moat, the scene occupies three acres which are shared by an African elephant, two white rhinos, hippopotomuses and pygmy hippos.

Senate Urges Ghetto Summer Job Funding

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate, spurred by a week of violence in cities all over the country, is demanding that Congress supply funds for a summer job program in urban ghettos.

In the first opportunity to express itself since Dr. Martin Luther King's assassination and its aftermath of violence, the Senate yesterday rejected a compromise $1.2 billion emergency appropriation bill which knocked out funds for the program.

It defeated by a vote of 54 to 24 the compromise bill fashioned by a joint Senate-House committee which knocked out $75 million for slum jobs and $25 million for the "Head Start" program for pre school children.

The Senate then called for a new conference with House delegates with instructions for the Senate conferees to insist that the money be restored.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., told the Senate that "nothing could be a greater memorial to Martin Luther King" than a rejection of the compromise. He said House passage of the civil rights bill and the Senate's insistence on funds for the slums would show the government is ready to act on the goals King pursued.

Sen. Lister Hill, D-Ala., however, warned his colleagues that the House negotiators insisted that the money be cut. "They would not agree and they stood adamant."

Senate liberals led the successful fight to reject the conference report, pointing to the widespread disorders following King's slaying.

House Approves Excise Tax Extension On Phones, Cars

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress yesterday approved an extension of federal excise taxes on telephone service and new automobile sales at pre-April 1 levels until April 30.

The temporary resolution was adopted by voice votes of the House and Senate and sent to the White House. Extended for a month were levies of 10 per cent on phone calls and 7 per cent on automobiles.

Both the House and Senate had passed legislation earlier extending the taxes through 1969. However the Senate added to the house-passed measure President Johnson's 10 per cent income tax surcharge and a $6 billion cut in federal spending. Negotiators from the chambers are trying to work out a compromise acceptable to both.

New Jobs Record, But Negroes Look

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's employment rose to a record high of 75.8 million in March and unemployment declined but the jobless rate for Negroes continued at more than double the rate for white workers, the Labor Department reports.

The total number of unemployed dipped by 359,000 to 2,929,000 last month, bringing the over-all unemployment rate down from 3.7 to 3.6 per cent of the civilian labor force.

About one-fifth of the total unemployed—615,000—were nonwhites, mostly Negroes, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said yesterday.

While the jobless rate for Negroes dropped three-tenths of 1 per cent to 6.9 per cent it was still more than twice the white rate of 3.2 per cent, which was down one-tenth of 1 per cent from February.

Total employment rose about 100,000 to hit the new all-time high mark, the Bureau said.

Virtually all the job gains were in trades, government and service businesses.

In the Bay Area employment set a record last month, and unemployment went down, officials say.

Some 60,000 were out of work in March, 4.1 per cent of the labor force, the State Department of Industrial Relations said yesterday. This was 36,000 less than March 1967 and 10,000 less than in February, when 4.3 per cent was jobless.

India Seeks Wheat

NEW DELHI (AP) — India has asked the United States to let it sell Egypt 27,400 tons of American aid-to-India wheat held up in the Suez Canal since the Arab-Israeli war last June, Food Minister A.P. Shinde told Parliament today.

Bay Leaders Ask Reagan Aid To BART

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Bay Area supervisors and mayors have turned to Gov. Ronald Reagan in hopes of finding $144 million needed to finish the Bay Area Rapid Transit system.

The mayors indicated yesterday they will week a $5 increase in automobile fees in the three counties to be serviced by BART and a 10-cent hike in Bay Bridge tolls.

The city and county officials were joined at their meeting by William L. Knowland, former U.S. Senate minority leader. He indicated he also favors a combination funding plan.

The session with the governor will be preceded by conferences between San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto and key members of the legislature.

Reagan, State Sen. George Miller, D-Contra Costa, and Assemblyman Robert Crown, D-Alameda have opposed funding programs advanced thus far.

At one time, BART engineers called for a halt in issuance of new contracts for construction of the system, but they agreed to go ahead after officials pledged continued efforts to make up the $144 million deficit.

Meeting Postponed

The Lincoln School District board of trustees' regular meeting Tuesday night was postponed, clerk William Barboni reported. A new meeting date wil be announced, he said.

King's March Plans Will Be Carried Out

ATLANTA (UPI)—The Southern Christian Leadership Conference will conduct a "poor people's" march on Washington next month despite the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., organizer of the crusade. King's widow Coretta, who will participate in the demonstration, yesterday was named to the SCLC board of directors.

Plans now call for Mrs. King to participate in a delayed march on the nation's capital. The crusade her husband conceived was to have begun April 22, but now will be held in mid-May.

Mrs. King and Harry Belafonte, the Negro singer, were named to the board of the SCLC. Board chairman J. W. Lowery also announced that Dr. Ralph Abernathy, King's chief assistant, was routinely elected to succeed the slain civil rights leader as SCLC president.

What role Mrs. King will play in the Washington crusade was not revealed. It apparently has not yet been determined whether she will simply help plan the mass demonstration, or will march as well.

Abernathy said the march will begin by the middle of next month. Its route will take it through Memphis, Tenn., where King was assassinated a week ago by a white sniper.

SCLC officials plan to travel to Memphis Sunday, Abernathy said, and he will follow shortly.

SCLC leaders plan a weekend meeting in Frogmore, S.C. to map new plans for the march and to study the organization's future. The Penn community center in Frogmore was often used by King and his staff to plan civil rights campaigns.

Negro Likely To Succeed Summerskill

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke announced today that five Negro educators are under consideration for the presidency of San Francisco State College.

Dr. Dumke, head of the California state college system, told a news conference that he hopes for the appointment of a new president by next fall "if we can make it."

He said the educator selected for leadership at San Francisco, where racial problems have been serious, will be "the best man for the job and five Negroes are among the candidates now being studied."

Dumke also announced creation of a state college system task force to intensify efforts to solve race problems.

He added that the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. prompted the decision to "reassess and review our programs for disadvantaged students."

Dr. Robert Summerskill resigned as San Francisco State president recently with a charge that effective protest against the state education policy no longer was possible within the state college system.

Town Remembers A Well Tragedy

SAN MARINO (AP) — Residents of San Marino turned out in force yesterday to bid farewell to the parents of Kathy Fiscus, the 3 and one-half-year-old girl who died in an abandoned well 19 years ago.

After 30 years in San Marino, Mr. and Mrs. David Fiscus are moving to Monterey. There was a banquet for them at a hotel.

Heroic and dramatic efforts were made to rescue Kathy from the bottom of a 104-foot well.

Hospital's Value To Area Debated

By ANNE BARDWELL

A 182-bed convalescent hospital located in the heart of Marin City will not provide the proper economic and employment opportunities for Marin City residents, Rev. Frederick Small, pastor of the Church of God in Marin City, said today.

Appearing on KTIM's Sounding Board with Donald O. Stutsman, executive director of the Marin County Housing Authority and Redevelopment Agency, Small said that over one half of the jobs offered by the hospital would be for nurses aides and janitors at a salary scale of $1.65 an hour.

"This wage scale is not conducive to maintaining a proper living standard in Marin County with its cost of living requirements," Small said.

OTHER FACTORS

Stutsman agreed the hospital would mainly offer "lower-level job entries" and would not provide the "necessary opportunities for advancement to higher skilled jobs at higher wages."

But, he said, other factors make the hospital a desirable business for Marin City, especially the fact that, if built, it will provide an additional $24,000 a year in property taxes, $2,400 of which will go directly to the Marin City Community Services District which "is sorely in need of more revenues."

Stutsman said the hospital would provide some skilled jobs and the College of Marin would offer training programs for residents. The hospital will also provide some business for local merchants in automotive services and the purchase of food and other supplies, he said.

PRIVATE CITIZEN

Small, who said he was speaking as a private citizen and did not presume to represent others opposed to the hospital, urged that the facility be moved to another location preferably "up the hill" in a non-residential area.

"I'm concerned about noise, and some of our children in Marin City are noisy," Small said. He also added he was afraid the hospital might prevent other kinds of "more desirable" development on the 40-acre Tamalpais High School District property located in the center of the community.

"I'm not against economic development," Small said. "But we've waited this long for the right kind of development, why not wait a while longer."

OTHER KINDS

Stutsman answered that the Redevelopment Agency, the community services district and private individuals have been trying for years to bring in other kinds of development, without success.

Both Kaiser hospital and the Marin Co-op center were approached, but decided to locate elsewhere, Stutsman said.

He said the developer, Jack Kinney of Novato, had planned the hospital be within one and one-half blocks of a bus stop and that Kinney was not concerned about the noise factor. Kinney had been invited to appear on the program but declined, moderator Kitty Oppenheimer said.

Both Stutsman and Small agreed that the residents of Marin City should have been involved in discussions concerning the hospital sooner. Residents voiced overwhelming opposition to the proposal when it was aired at its first public hearing on April 2.

MANY OPPOSED

Estimating that approximately 80 per cent of the residents are now opposed to the hospital, Stutsman said the facility would not be constructed unless it is acceptable to the community. "The chances of this being approved look slim right now, although we are working very hard to effect a compromise acceptable to both sides," he added.

"We've learned a lesson; next time we will take the proposal to the community much earlier in the negotiations," he said.

"Sounding Board" will be rebroadcast at 10 a.m. Sunday.

Stepfather Accused Of Knife Threat

A 39-year-old Novato man was arrested yesterday after he allegedly beat his 17-year-old stepdaughter and dragged her around the house by her hair, then threatened a deputy with the blade of a butcher knife.

George Anthony Hummel, 39, of 6 Rose Court, Novato, was jailed on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon and felony child beating.

Deputies, answering a report of child beating, were met at the door by Hummel, wielding the butcher knife.

Deputy Perry Rotbergs stepped inside the door and saw Hummel shift the knife, as if preparing to throw it.

"If you come into this house, I'll put the knife into your belly," Hummel warned, according to the deputies.

Rotbergs dived for Hummel as he shifted his hold on the knife and the weapon was knocked to the floor. Other deputies entered the house and Hummel was handcuffed.

Melinda Lee Hill, Hummel's stepdaughter, told officers that Hummel hit her with his fists and dragged her from room to room in the house.

Betty Virginia Hummel, his wife, told officers that her husband was intoxicated. She tried to subdue him by hitting him on the head with a whiskey bottle, but it only dazed him slightly, she said.

Hummel was held in jail in lieu of $3,100 bail today. He was to appear in Municipal Court this afternoon.

Bridge Critic Storer Calls For Jury Probe

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer yesterday broadcast his crusade against the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District board and administration on television, taking to the air to call for a grand jury investigation of the district.

Today, the supervisor, who is campaigning for re-election from the Fourth District, followed up the broadcast on Channel 7's Jim Dunbar Show with a letter to the grand jury repeating points made by him at a San Francisco press conference two weeks ago.

Storer wrote that:

The total operating budget of the Golden Gate Bridge (1.5 miles long) was $2,754,730 in 1967. The total operating budget of the Bay Bridge (eight miles long and double decked) was $2,424,972 in 1967.

The Golden Gate Bridge manager gets $29,196 per year. The head of the Division of Bay Toll Crossings, who operates seven bridges totalling more than 25 miles, gets $24,456.

The Golden Gate Bridge directors recently spent over a half million dollars remodeling the toll plaza administration offices, including $4,460 for the meeting table and $1,709 for carpeting in the directors' room.

Golden Gate Bridge directors recently voted $200,000 life insurance policies for themselves out of bridge funds but backed down to $100,000 insurance each "in the face of public outrage."

As of June 30, 1967, the district's balance of cash available was $29 million.

The directors earlier this year refused to endorse Assembly Bill 175, still pending which would give Marin and San Francisco additional representation on the board.

"Any meaningful solution to our commuter crisis is impossible as long as the bridge district goes on as it has," declared Storer. "Its president, John Nelson of Ukiah, made the following astonishing statement at an offical meeting of the California Assembly's Transportation Committee in San Francisco in January: 'We are not in business for the commuters,' need more be said."

Ross Girl, 6, Found Safe While Neighbors Search

A 6-year-old Ross girl, missing more than two hours and feared abducted, was found in her bedroom last night after returning to the home unannounced.

Patrolman Jeff Sousa said Laura Turner, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guilford S. Turner III of 58 Wellington Avenue, left her home about 4 p.m. to go to a girlfriend's house about two blocks away to stay overnight.

When the girlfriend appeared at the Turner home about 5:15 p.m. looking for Laura, Sousa said, the mother telephoned police. Five Ross officers, two San Anselmo policemen and dozens of neighborhood residents using their own cars began a search of the area.

The child was found in her bedroom about 6:30 p.m. when police and the family went back to the home to get a picture of Laura to distribute to news media, fearing she had been kidnapped.

Sousa said the child explained she had never intended to go to the girlfriend's home, but was afraid to tell her mother. She had doubled back to her home and entered through a rear door.

Marin Election Returns Gave County Computer Indigestion

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON
(Second in a series)

On the morning of Nov. 7, 1962, complete vote tallies were in from the previous day's election in all counties of the First Congressional District — except Marin.

"George," the new IBM 1401 computer in the Marin County data processing bureau (with 14 men working for him) had been given the job of tabulating the election returns. He at last came up with the "final" tally about noon. Then it was found to be two precincts short. It was mid-afternoon by the time the totals were complete.

Arleigh Sewell, head of data processing, blamed Fair, Isaacs and Co., a management consultatn firm that had been hired to do programming. Fair, Isaacs retorted they had been hired only to program recording of voter registration. County Counsel E. Warren McGuire at length told the board of supervisors the company was right.

With that goof behind it, data processing went ahead into 1963, with assurances from Sewell that the new, more efficient computer would do so much work the bureau would be "in the black."

A difficulty arose, though. On Apr. 17, 1963, County Administrator Alan Bruce reported a 150 per cent increase in cost since "George" was installed. Sewell said this was because the IBM 1401 was not working at peak efficiency for lack of personnel to feed it material. The board of supervisors authorized hiring three more programmers. This time, Supervisor William D. Fusselman, who had made the original motion for data processing, voted "no."

Figures in the following year's county budget indicate that data processing very nearly did "turn the corner" in fiscal 1962, the last "pre-George" year. That year it spent $110,155.91. Its charge-backs to county departments totaled $80,524.14, and from outside agencies it received $24,301.96. Thus receipts totaled $104,826.10, only $5,329.81 less than expenses.

The story in fiscal 1963 was different. Despite the promises of greater efficiency with the bigger compufer, the bureau in "George's" first year spent $242,765.19 and had receipts from county departments and outside clients totaling $167,938.61 (of which $73,910 was work done for outside agencies). The difference between receipts and expenditures rose to $74,826.58.

"George" got a second try at election handling in the June 2, 1964, primary. This time the results emerged much faster. But along about midnight, it was discovered the programming did not include tabulation of the Tamalpais High School District unification vote. The county schools office had to call in help in the middle of the night to make its own count, with old-fashioned adding machines.

The 1964 county grand jury expressed some dissatisfaction with the way data processing was running. A 15th man had been added to the staff — which was now split into two pieces for budgeting purposes: "data processing" for those operating the machine and "data processing systems" for those preparing the programs. However, the grand jury found "George" was still idle too much of the time, and expressed doubt whether he was saving county departments as much as he was costing.

The jury suggested data processing be transferred from the auditor-controller to the administrator.

On Dec. 22, the board of supervisors halfway did this, putting "systems" under the administrator. Before the year 1965 was half over, Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell objected to the split control, and "data processing" as well as "data processing systems" went to the administrator.

"George's days were numbered, however. On May 10, 1965, the board approved trading the 1401 for an IBM 360, which supervisors were told would "save more than $1,000 a month in equipment rental" and do many things the 1401 could not do.

The new machine arrived early in 1966, with bigger memory banks and seven times more speed than the once-marvelous 1401. Sewell said it would enable him to cut his staff by one.

Meantime, during fiscal 1964, data processing had cost $272,923.28 and received $191,265.65, a difference of $81,557.63. During fiscal 1965, the margin had been narrowed, with expenses totaling $320,616.56 and receipts $257,185.36, a difference of $63,431.20.

But six months after arrival of the 360, Treasurer-Tax Collector Stanley J. Fontez, who had often found fault with data processing, complained it had taken so long to process the unsecured tax roll that notices were mailed late.

As result of that and other complaints, on Oct. 10, 1966, Bruce and Sewell recommended the county contract for a management study of the data processing bureau. A couple weeks later, Bruce reported the monthly rental for IBM 360 was $9,653 — over $1,000 more, rather than less, than that of the 1401 — and that is was in use only 110 hours per month although the contract permitted 176 hours. Sewell said this was due to lack of programmers, who quit almost as fast as they were hired.

The new 360 got its chance at handling an election on Nov. 9, 1966. It outdid either of the goofs of its predecessor. Two days were required to complete the tabulation. Elections Supervisor John H. Musser blamed data processing. (Later he was to blame mutilation of the Votomatic punch-card ballots.)

The nameless 360 seemed to be having no better luck than George, the 1401.

"I'll never make it!"

Reserved Bus Lane Given No Action

A committee of the Golden Gate Highway District today declined to endorse the proposal that a lane be reserved on the bridge and Highway 101 for commute buses in a 30-day trial.

Instead, the commute voted to ask the Tripartite Transportation Committee's proposed transit task force to give the idea first priority. Creation of the task force however still needs the approval of San Francisco supervisors.

That approval is considered unlikely because directors of the Marin transit district and the bridge district favor buses over ferries, but the San Francisco supervisors want ferries first.

Committee Chairman Dan London said the proposed bus lane was suggested by the Marin County Planning Department.

Marin director Thomas D. Hardcastle warned that closing one of the four lanes during commute hours would produce "a colossal traffic jam the likes of which we've never seen. It would back up all the way to Novato," he said.

"I am very very anxious to attract people out of their cars and into public transit," Hardcastle said, "but we shouldn't bludgeon people out of their automobiles."

Marin's other director George Ludy, commented that if the experiment did not work out, it could be cut short.

Directors took no action on a suggestion the bridge be painted gold. District Engineer Robert Shield said a vinyl-based gold paint is being tested by the bridge crews.

Race, Age Gap Issues Studied

The Homestead Valley Improvement Club Tuesday night named a three-member committee to study interracial teen-age relationships and adult-teen relationships.

Martin Rosen will be chairman, with committee members Naomi Kirschner and Bruce Cunningham.

President Geoffrey Barrett said the group is concerned about lack of communication among black and white students at Tamalpais High School and between adults and teen-agers.

Litterals Due Higher Court Date

The secret preliminary hearing for two brothers accused of injecting methedrine into a 16-year-old girl's veins ended in Marin Municipal Court yesterday.

Robert Dale Litteral, 20, of Kentfield, was held to answer on charges of inducing a minor to use a dangerous drug and possession of marijuana.

Harry Alexander Litteral, 18, was held to answer only on the marijuana possession charge. Judge Peter Allen Smith dismissed the other charge against him, saying there was insufficient evidence.

The public was excluded from the hearing at the Request of Deputy Public Defender Robert I. Conn, attorney for Robert Litteral.

The brothers were arrested March 25, after a runaway girl told Larkspur police that she had been staying at the Litteral home and that the brothers had injected her and another runaway girl with methedrine.

The brothers are to appear in Superior Court April 22 for arraignment on the charges.

Car Hits Boulder Alongside Bay

A 21-year-old San Rafael man escaped serious injury early today when his car left San Pedro Road in Bayside Acres, rammed a huge boulder and overturned.

The driver, Freddie L. Center of 7 Mariposa Road, Apt. 2, was treated at Marin General Hospital for a sprained left forearm and a cut chin.

Police said the accident happened at 2:15 a.m. about 200 feet west of Loch Lomond Drive.

Variances Approved

The Larkspur Planning Commission last night approved variance applications of John J. Nelson for a fence height and swimming pool setback at 120 Tulane Drive, and by Alice B. Copeland for a six-foot-high fence at 771 Magnolia Avenue.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Expert Could Have Learned A Lot From Boldness Of The Beginner

Bridge beginners love to finesse. Experts avoid such risks. Since our subject for the week is finessing, it's a pleasure to report a hand in which the beginner could have given a lesson to an expert.

TAKES 12

When today's hand was plyed in the 1954 world championship an American pair bid game in no trump on the North-South cards. West led the eight of spades, and Doug Steen, the American declarer, took 12 tricks without breathing hard.

At the other table of the match, Pierre Ghestem and Rene Bacherich, of the European team, bid their way up to six diamonds on the North-South cards, with South as declarer. If I told you how the bidding went you wouldn't believe me, but let's not sniff, because six diamonds was a very fine contract.

West opened the eight of spades, and Ghestem won with the ten. He led a diamond, forcing out the ace, and took the heart return with the ace. And then Ghestem made a true expert's mistake.

REVERSES DUMMY

Ghestem ruffed a heart in dummy, got to his hand with the ace of spades to ruff another heart, led a club to the ace and ruffed his last heart. Then he led dummy's last trump and overtook with the king. If the five missing rumps had broken 3-2, Ghestem would have made his slam. With the actual break he was down.

After ruffing one heart in the North hand, declarer should lead a trump to his king. If the trumps broke 3-2, Ghestem could go ahead with his plan to ruff hearts in the North hand. It could cost him nothing to test the trumps before going on.

BAD BREAK

When the trumps actually broke badly, Ghestem would draw the rest of the trumps (like the veriest beginner). Eventually he would have to stake his slam on a club finesse. This simple finesse would work, and the slam would come in.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ K Q 9 7
♡ Q
♣ K J 4

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one diamond.

The high-card structure is poor, and the hand is aceless, but it is still worth an opening bid.

"Don't worry. I wouldn't make a wisecrack like that about the brass if there weren't a double-thick soundproof glass pane in this door."

Two Drivers Fined, Placed On Probation

A Mill Valley man and a San Anselmo man have been fined $230 each and placed on six months probation in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving on Highway 101.

Bruce Scott Hanna, 46, of 143 Oak Springs Drive, San Anselmo, was arrested April 4. Klaus Richard Edler, 46, of 902 Greenhill Road, Mill Valley, was arrested March 12.

STARS FOR MAY

Skies Reflect Changing Seasons

By SCIENCE SERVICE

Now that we are well into spring, and summer is approaching, the evening skies reflect the season.

Only a few stars that were prominent on winter evenings remain visible and the summer groups begin to appear. These are shown on the accompanying maps, which depict the sky of May 1, about 11 p.m., local daylight saving time. It looks about the same an hour earlier at the middle of the month, and two hours earlier at the end.

One planet is conspicuous. This is Jupiter, high in the southwest in the constellation of Leo, the lion. It stands close to the star Regulus, at the end of the handle of the Sickle.

Regulus, a first magnitude star, is among the brightest in the sky. However, it is only about a sixteenth as bright as Jupiter.

Vega, toward the northeast in Lyra, the lyre, also is brilliant. On summer evenings, from much of the United States, it shines directly overhead.

Below Lyra appears part of Cygnus. Here stands Deneb, also first magnitude, but its low altitude causes considerable dimming. Antares, in Scorpius, which is low in the southeast, is similarly dimmed.

To the left of Leo and lower, you will see Virgo. The brightest star is Spica. Above Virgo's left-hand end is the herdsman, Bootes, with brilliant Arcturus.

You must look toward the northwest for the surviving winter groups. There you see Gemini, the twins, with Pollux, first magnitude, second-magnitude Castor is nearby. Lower and to the right is Auriga, with Capella. To the left of the twins (on the southern sky map) is Procyon, in Canis Minor.

For the second time this year we have a good opportunity to see the innermost of the sun's family of planets: Mercury. On May 23 it is farthest east of the sun, as it was at the end of January. This is called "greatest eastern elongation." Then it remains in the western sky for a short time after sunset and can be seen near the horizon at dusk. It sets before the sky is entirely dark, so it is gone by the times for which the maps are prepared.

Mars this month is too close to the sun to be visible. Venus and Saturn appear low in the east before sunrise. Venus is many times brighter than Saturn.

Because Mercury never gets far from the sun in the sky, many people have never seen it. At eastern elongation, as it is this month, it's visible at dusk. When west of the sun it appears low in the east at dawn. Evening appearances are best in the spring, and morning ones in the fall.

Astronomers also have difficulties observing it through their telescopes. Jupiter, for example, is much easier: it can be seen high in the sky for much of the night. That may explain why, for many years, Mercury's rotation period (its day) was wrongly listed.

Astronomical books published before 1965 state that Mercury revolves on its axis once every 88 days. This was based on observations during the 1880s by Giovanni Schiaparelli, an Italian astronomer. He noticed some faint markings on Mercury and that they seemed to appear every 88 days — or at least in multiples of that figure.

At best these markings were hard to observe, but he concluded that an 88-day rotation period would account for their regular appearances. This is the same as the planet's "year" (the period in which it revolves around the sun). In that case, Mercury would always keep the same hemisphere toward the sun, as the moon does toward the earth.

One great astronomical advance of recent years has been the application of radar techniques.

The world's largest radio telescope is a dish-shaped antenna 1,000 feet in diameter, suspended between some hills near Arecibo, Puerto Rico. Mercury, like the other planets, passes overhead; then it can be studied by radar. Such observations, in 1965, showed that it rotates on its axis every 58.6 days. Its rotation, as seen from the north, is counterclockwise. So is its revolution around the sun.

Schiaparelli's mistake seems to have been due to a curious relationship between the planet's rotation period and the time required for a revolution around the sun.

Suppose an observer could be on Mercury when the sun is directly overhead. You might think that it would be overhead again just 58.6 earth days later.

But no! In this time the planet has moved about two-thirds of its orbit around the sun. Our observer is facing the same direction in space that he faced 58.6 days earlier —but he's not yet facing the sun. Not until 176 days have passed will this happen.

That will be just two revolutions around the sun, for 176 is twice 88. In that time, Mercury will have turned three times on its axis.

The markings that Schiaparelli observed with such great difficulty were seen best when they were toward the sun. Apparently he didn't notice that they appeared only at alternate 88-day periods. Perhaps he assumed that, on other occasions when he thought he should have seen them, observing conditions simply weren't good enough to reveal them!

Bionda Asks Rumford Act Repeal

Al R. Bionda Jr., unopposed candidate for the Seventh Assembly District nomination on the American Independent Party ticket, today called for repeal of the Rumford Fair Housing Act.

"The basic human right of private ownership of property is a symbol to the whole world," the Petaluman said in a press release. "It's a symbol because most of the world's people do not have this right," he said.

Bionda charged that Gov. Ronald Reagan has joined the incumbent assemblyman, William T. Bagley, R/San Rafael, "in deserting their own party platform, promises and principles" in supporting the open housing law.

Bionda challenged Bagley's opponent in the GOP primary, Clay Barham, "to make his position known on the Rumford Law to see whether he too will go along with the seeming wave of GOP opportunism, expediency and hunger for political victories over principles of good government. We know where the others stand, but we don't know about Clay Barham, the so-called 'dark horse,' said Bionda.

Four Injured In Two-Car Smash

Four persons were injured yesterday in a two-car crash on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, one mile west of Fairfax.

Russell P. Snyder, 46 of Palo Alto, was treated for a cut lip at Marin General Hospital; Roy A. Bohman, 48, of 7256 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Woodacre, for a cut left elbow and chest bruises. Passengers in Snyder's car, Mrs. D. J. Muckey, 31, of San Francisco and her daughter April, 7, were treated for a cut left knee and eyebrow cut respectively.

The collision occurred at 5:15 p.m. when Snyder's eastbound car crossed the double line and struck Bohman's westbound car and both vehicles went over an embankment, according to the California Highway patrol. Damage to Snyder's car was minor but Bohman's car was wrecked, officers reported.

Stolen Auto Is Found Stripped

David Loring of Gate 5, north of Sausalito, didn't have to go far to find his stolen car yesterday.

Loring, who discovered the theft at 8 a.m., first reported it to the Marin City sheriff's substation, then drove around looking for the 1955 Chevrolet.

He found it four minutes later, on blocks and stripped, in the 300 block of Drake Avenue. Missing were the four wheels, the generator and battery, steering wheel and bucket seats.

Loring said he had planned to sell the car today.

Phoenix Dam Repair Low Bid Is $91,225

Directors of the Marin Municipal Water District yesterday opened 10 bids for the reconstruction of Phoenix Dam, ranging from a low of $91,225 from Maggiora and Son to a high of $139,565 from A. E. Mullen Construction.

Close to the Sausalito firm's low bid was one from Merz Boros, of San Rafael, for $92,087 and another from Brutoco Engineering and Construction of Concord for $97,705.

The state has agreed to contribute $90,000 for the reconstruction.

Directors approved the hiring of Walt Brown of Leeds, Hill and Jewett in San Francisco as a consultant engineer for Phoenix Dam rehabilitation, at $25 an hour, not to exceed a total expense of $2,000.

For the same project, the board authorized the hiring of Harold Stone and G. Terwilliger as engineering aides to supplement the survey crew, at $568 each.

Marin Municipal Water District Board Also:

FLOOD CONTROL — Decided to enter into an agreement with the county for relocation of lines in the Corte Madera flood control project, at the entrance to Kent Woodlands, to cost the county $46,000.

FEDERAL MONEY — Approved applications to the housing urban development for 50 per cent aid via federal grants totaling $845,500 for three projects: Expansion of the San Geronimo treatment plant, a new transmission line at Smith's Saddle in Fairfax and expansion of the lakes pumping system.

CONTRACT — Awarded a contract to the Crane Co. of South San Francisco for $700 plus $50 freight charge for a pump for Sausalito Boulevard. The Pacific Hydro Corp. of San Francisco had an alternate bid for $734 and Pacific Pumping Co. of San Leandro bid $659, but the engineering department recommended the Crane price as the "lowest bid to meet specifications."

NO CONTEST — Approved a request to the board of supervisors to re-elect Director William C. Herup as no other candidate in his area has filed for the June 4 election.

REQUESTS — Granted requests for use of district land on June 17-21 for Camp Fire Girls, on April 15 for a San Francisco botany class, on April 28 for a field trip by state park planner, on April 20-21 for Boy Scout troops and on April 21 for the 4-H Mounted Patrol. Granted approval for use of the Mountain Theater parking lot May 19 and 26 for the Mountain Play but decided to require a refundable deposit of $50 in case a clean-up crew is required.

Airmen Surrenders After 17 Days Away

A/3C Gustavo S. Santiago, reported absent without leave for the past 17 days from the 78th Civil Engineers at Hamilton Air Force Base, turned himself in to base officers at the main gate yesterday, according to base officials.

Airman Santiago, who lives in the barracks, was not confined to the base jail and no date has been set for his trial on AWOL charges, according to officials.

Rights Commissioners To Study Complaints

A growing number of complaints against discrimination will be among topics to be discussed tonight at the meeting of the Marin County Human Rights Commission at 8 p.m. in the supervisors' chambers at the Civic Center.

Other items on the agenda include the 1968-69 budget, and committee reports on education, housing, employment and police community relations.

$92,400 Grant To Sanitary District

The San Rafael Sanitation District was notified yesterday that a federal grant of $92,400 has been approved for reimbursement to the district by the Water Pollution Control Administration in Washington, D. C.

The grant is to partially offset the cost of the current project, improvements to the main treatment plant in San Rafael, reported Ely Callouette, acting district administrator.

The $243,000 project is about 60 per cent complete, Callouette said. The grant was allocated under a federal act which provides assistance to districts if they upgrade their treatment facilities, he said.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

The Best Time In Life Should Always Be At Your Age Now

VAN DELLEN

There are several primes of life. Those who regard sex and childbearing as most important, find 18 to 35 the happy years. It is then that they are filled with vigor and ambition.

In the early ages of this period, young men and women are swayed by emotions and daydreams. As midlife is approached, there are fewer fantasies and more realities.

BUT FOR MANY, the period of maturity that follows is more enjoyable and becomes the prime of life. There is satisfaction in being able to integrate all faculties into a working unit.

An Oriental school teacher expressed the feeling in the following way:

"I remember when I was still in China. My mother said to me, 'I'm 30 years old today. Isn't it wonderful? I shall soon be a responsible adult. I have the feeling that life is just now beginning to have meaning. I am thrilled'."

After 50, there may be a feeling of uselessness, not being wanted, and nervousness. Often the menopause is blamed, rather than fear of growing old. Some women are unable to adjust to the realization that time is flying and they no longer are members of the younger set. Negative attitudes such as these can be overcome by glorifying the fifties as one of the primes of life.

AFTER ALL, every age has its compensations and life can take on new meaning if we look forward to fresh experiences. The mature individual takes each decade in his stride and adds zest to living by regarding each succeeding year as better than the last.

The wish for an instant paradise is as old as man. For centuries people have searched for artificial means to improve their lot. It is here that drugs enter the picture. Hippies, for example, use LSD with this in mind. They change their internal world but ignore constructive actions to improve the external environment.

ACNE REMEDIES

Mrs. G. writes: Is there any cure for adolescent skin problems? Two physicians have said it is age and the condition will clear up when my son is older. He is very unhappy and will appreciate any advice you can give him.

REPLY

I assume you refer to acne with its pimples and blackheads. We have many good medications and 90 per cent of acne conditions respond to ointments, cleanliness, diet, and the antibiotics.

WHAT IS A SCRAPING?

D. W. writes: What is a scraping? Please tell me when this procedure is done.

REPLY

Scraping is just what the work implies. The physician uses a small, scooplike instrument with which to remove the uppermost layers of a lesion or diseased tissue. Dilatation and curettage (D. and C.), a common pelvic operation in women, usually is done for diagnostic or therapeutic purposes.

HANDEDNESS AND STUTTERING

Mrs. J. writes: If I force my left-handed son to use the right hand, will he begin to stutter?

REPLY

Not necessarily. Stuttering usually is on an emotional basis. Furthermore, its supposed relationship to handedness is not an established fact.

ALL CANCERS MALIGNANT

I. N. writes: Can a person have cancer that is not malignant?

REPLY

No. Tumors and other growths can be malignant or benign, but all cancers are malignant.

County Opposes Span Board End

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors yesterday voted to oppose bills in the state legislature that would dissolve the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District.

The board also adopted a resolution urging that, should such a bill pass, the counties that built the bridge receive a pro-rated return of liquid assets of the district.

Supervisor I. A. Vella said Sonoma County's share of such a distribution would be more than $2 million.

Judge Drops Counts In Card Game Probe

Judge A. Andrew Hauk did not say why the charges were dismissed. Gebhard still must face 28 charges of alleged perjury during grand jury hearings.

Mother To Join Three Daughters At Wedding Altar

BELL (AP) — Margaret Smith and her three daughters will be married Saturday in a quadruple ceremony.

Mrs. Smith, a 38-year-old widow, will marry Miniford Arlius McCoy, 38.

The girls—Rachael Elaine, 19; Laura Lynn, 18; and Edna Carolyn, 16—will marry three sailors stationed together on a ship in Long Beach harbor.

The weddings will be performed by Elder James P. Sandefur of the Shiloah Primitive Baptist Church.

"I have no idea how I'm going to perform a quadruple ceremony," Sandefur said yesterday. "I've never done it before."

Kuchel Supported By Union Panel

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel has been endorsed by the AFL-CIO California Council on Political Education as the Republican candidate for renomination at the June primary election.

Kuchel's chief rival is Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction.

Delegates to COPE's preprimary convention here deferred endorsing a presidential candidate until after the primary.

A Tough Road Ahead For Warriors

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A sore toe and some accurate shooting could result in a quick ending of the Western Division playoffs in the National Basketball Association.

The Los Angeles Lakers rode a fourth-quarter surge for a 115-112 triumph and a 2-0 edge over the San Francisco Warriors last night at the Forum.

The site switches tonight at 8:30 to the Cow Palace. On Saturday night, the best-of-7 series goes to the Oakland Arena.

Los Angeles holds the hot shooting hand while Warriors' star Jeff Mullins has the sore toe. He dislocated it in the second quarter of the second game. Although yanked back into position the black and blue toe provided full evidence of the soreness.

"We let them play their game at the end," commented Warrior Coach Bill Sharman of the second playoff meeting. "We contained the scattered, fast break attack until the final quarter."

Superstars Elgin Baylor and Jerry West each scored 36 points for Los Angeles as did Fred Hetzel of the Warriors, but Lakers' reserve Mel Counts provided the difference.

He scored six points as the Lakers rallied and also helped control the boards as Coach Bill van Breda Kolff used a three-guard offense effectively.

"Counts really did some good things for us," declared Van Breda Kolff of the 7-foot substitute center. "with the three-guard offense we had more speed, but it meant Counts had to work harder on the rebounding."

The turning point may have come with time having run out in the third stanza. West heaved a shot that dropped in just as the buzzer sounded.

Mullins drew a foul and also a technical when he objected strenuously to the call. So West dropped two free throws in addition to his basket and the 10-point Warrior lead was cut to six.

Los Angeles, in foul trouble early, scrapped back and took the lead 100-99 on a Counts' field goal with four minutes left and then stood off the Warrior challenge.

Mullins finished second high scorer for the losers with 23 even though he missed seven minutes of action while his toe was being treated. And at the end of the game, the former Duke star was out because the injury hurt too much to continue.

Sharman said his surprising

A Very Satisfying Opening Day For Jesus Alou

JIM GILMARTIN

A Day Of Excitement At Candlestick Park

PHEW!—I've seen many openers in my time — bottle, can and baseball — but yesterday's 1968 athletic inaugural at Candlestick Park has to rank as one of the most exciting of 'em all.

This one had a touch of everything — ranging from ideal weather to a comedy of errors by the slapstick Mets to booming home runs to a cliff-hanging finish by Horace Stoneham's stout-hearted stalwarts. If the opener is indicative of things to come, Giant fans had better stock up on tranquilizers because it was a real nail-biter of a tussle for the 35,774 fans plus another 7,000 who came dressed as empty seats.

You just couldn't believe the weather at much-maligned Candlestick. A warm sun beamed down through skies of absolute purity. Shirt-sleeves were the uniform of the day. And — at Candlestick, mind you — would you believe Bermuda shorts?

Some Fans Kicking Themselves

Long notorious for their inability to come from behind, the Giants really surprised their followers by that dramatic three-run ninth inning. Thousands of fans — bent on beating the huge traffic jams that followed — left after eight innings, resigned to defeat. They are the ones who are kicking themselves today.

I thought all the Giants lived up to their potential with the exception of Juan Marichal, ace of the pitching staff who kept intact his dubious distinction of never winning an opening day assignment at home. Yesterday Juan was below par, for him. He lost his no-hitter and shutout in the first inning and things didn't get better, particularly when muscleman Ron Swoboda touched him for a three-run homer to the off field in the riotous third inning that gave the underdogs a 4-0 edge.

But the Mets started giving it back in the bottom half of the third when someone must have substituted a hot potato for the ball because that's the way they handled it. The Giants hit three double-play balls that inning but the butter-fingered Mets made only one of them. In spite of the charity of two errors, the Giants made only one run that inning.

On Way To Undefeated Season

Well, everything came out fine in the end, thanks to Jesus Alou's clutch game-ending double. Willie Mays and Willie McCovey are swinging sweetly and the team looks ready for a scrappy pennant tussle. With a 1-0 record already, shucks, they may go undefeated. Who says you can't win 'em all?

There was only one spoiler to our outing yesterday. With press box accommodations overloaded as usual on opening day, the Giants put several scribes in an "auxiliary" press section on the front row of the upper grandstand.

"Oh, boy," said right-hand man Ralph Chatoian, "A front row seat in the warm sunshine. How lucky can we get!"

Which was fine, except we saw more belt buckles and rotund posteriors than we did baseball. Never, NEVER buy a front row seat.

IT'S GONE—Giants' rightfielder Jesus Alou leaps in vain as ball sails over fence for a home run by New York's Ron Swoboda in third inning of yesterday's opener at Candlestick Park. The clout gave the Mets a 4-0 lead, but San Francisco rallied to a 5-4 victory. (UPI Telephoto)

Great Start For S.F.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "I had to look for a curve after he had made me look so bad on the first two curves said a satisfied, somber Jesus Alou.

His two-run single beat the New York Mets 5-4 with one out in the bottom of the ninth yesterday.

The Giants went into the inning trailing 4-2.

Willie Mays singled, went to second on a wild pitch and scored on Jim Hart's single. That chased Tom Seaver, who was relieved by Danny Frisella.

OLIVER SINGLES

Nate Oliver singled and then Alou delivered on a 1-2 pitch.

"He really made me look bad on those first two strikes," said Alou, who swung wildly on two low curves.

"Then he hung a curve."

Manager Herman Franks, who joked, "That's a hell of a job of managing," decided at the last minute to start Alou instead of Ollie Brown. Jesus was the Giants' leading hitter last year with a .292 average.

"I never wanted to win a game so much in my life," said a disappointed Seaver, who pointed out the Mets had never won a season opener.

TIRED

"I was tired in the ninth and had only a few pitches left." He gave up seven hits in 8 1-3 innings and had a three-hitter going until the seventh.

Juan Marichal, who has never won an opener in Candlestick Park, was nearly as disappointed. He left in the eight after giving up nine hits, two of them to Ron Swoboda—a run-scoring single and a three-run homer.

"I've never had so much trouble with Swoboda," said Marichal. "He hit an outside fast ball. But the Mets hit everything everywhere.

GOOD CONTROL

"I hope to do better. My control was good; they just hit me. All the problems came with two outs."

"At least we lost on base hits," said Swoboda. "It's still disappointing to lose, though.

"That was the best I ever hit off Marichal. It's just too bad the game did not end in the eighth."

Raiders To Train In Santa Rosa

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Raiders announced today that Santa Rosa, will be the team's training site for the sixth straight summer.

A's Get Some Time Off

COMBINED AP & UPI

BALTIMORE — The Oakland A's will have plenty of time to think about what they did wrong yesterday when the Baltimore Orioles beat them 3-1 in their American League baseball opener.

Today's and tomorrow's contests with the Orioles were postponed because of racial tension. Yesterday's game was televised in Baltimore for fans who did not want to travel. There were only 22,050 in the 52,000-seat stadium.

WORK OUT

The A's worked out today in Baltimore and planned to bus directly to Washington where Chuck Dobson starts against the Senators on Saturday.

Sunday's doubleheader in Washington has been changed to a single game with Jim Nash scheduled to start. John Odom and Jim Hunter will start Monday and Tuesday in New York. On Wednesday night the A's open their home schedule against Baltimore.

Hunter was tagged with the loss yesterday, giving up two runs and seven hits in six innings.

SACRIFICE FLY

Boog Powell's bases loaded sacrifice fly gave the Orioles a run in the first and he singled and scored on Dave Johnson's double in the fourth.

Reliever Ed Sprague gave up a homer to Brooks Robinson in the eighth. Rookie Reggie Jackson's solo homer, also in the eighth, gave the A's their only run.

The A's loaded the bases in the third but catcher Andy Etchebarren crashed into the stands to grab Ramon Webster's foul.

BASES LOADED

They filled the bases again with two out in the ninth, but Eddie Watt retired Sal Bando on a fly to center.

Bando, the burly Oakland third baseman who hit 10 homers in the spring exhibition games, backed Paul Blair to the fence in center to haul in his long drive. Had the ball gone 10 feet either way it would have been a grand slam homer.

Tom Phoebus hurled 7⅓ innings and got credit for the victory. John O'Donoghue and Moe Drabowsky also pitched in with relief help.

Augusta Golf Course Built For Power, Says Player

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Gary Player wishes he could belt the ball a mile when he is at the Masters, claiming the Augusta National layout "gives the long hitters a tremendous advantage."

But the little South African—who overcame lack of power in 1961 when he became the only foreigner to claim the green champion's coat at the Masters—says "a few good putts can make up for all the yardage in the world."

The only problem, Player said as the curtain lifted for the 1968 Masters today, is that his putting has been terrible.

"I may have to change my putting stroke—I just don't know," Player said. "I don't feel very happy with my putting, but I hope I can rectify it when the tournament starts."

Player got a taste of what's ahead in a final practice round yesterday, playing with long-driving Jack Nicklaus and Tom Weiskopf.

Nicklaus is known as one of golf's hardest hitters, and he was 20 to 30 yards behind Weiskopf. Both were far past Player on every tee shot.

"It's a tremendous advantage to hit the ball a long way here," Player said. "I'm better off on the courses where the fairways are narrow, which they are in the rest of the world."

Player insisted, however, that he is not being pessimistic.

"I don't want it to look as if I am not being positive," Player said. "And perhaps history will repeat itself.

"I'm playing better than I have in all of my life—but I'm putting terribly," he said.

"That is the same position I was in back when I won the tournament. In 1961 I was putting poorly and hitting the ball very well and I won."

Player said that if he can cure his putting problems before the final rounds he will be all right.

"I don't worry about falling several strokes behind here, because anything can happen," he said.

"In 1962, I was six shots behind Arnold Palmer on the fourth hole—and on the 12th hole I was three shots in front of him."

The two tied over the regulation route, and Palmer won in a playoff.

Player hasn't won an American title since he claimed the 1965 U.S. Open Championship, but he feels his chances are good this year to snap out of the slump.

Former Marin Prep Star To Coach Stanford Frosh

Jim Troppmann of Corte Madera, former all-star quarterback for Redwood High School, last night was named freshman football coach at Stanford University.

The appointment was announced by athletic director Charles Taylor and is subject to university trustee approval. The 22-year-old Troppmann replaces Terry DeSylvia who has been promoted to an assistant's job with the varisty under head coach John Ralston.

Troppmann played quarterback at Stanford in 1964-65-66 and presently is doing graduate work there, working toward a master's degree in physical education.

"I'm really delighted with the appointment," he said this morning. "It came a lot earlier than I had anticipated. I'm looking forward to next season because our recruiting program has been going real well. We have 33 real nuggets lined up, although letters of intent won't be signed for a while yet." Last season the Stanford frosh had three victories against one loss.

"My long range aspiration," said Troppmann, "is, of course, to become a head varsity coach. This new job is a good step in that direction."

Yaz Blasts Two Homers For Sox

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

They yawned when Carl Yastrzemski hit his first home run of the 1968 season. But they could hardly believe the second one.

The first homer for the 1967 Triple Crown winner came in the seventh inning of Boston's 7-3 opening day victory over Detroit yesterday. It was the routine kind for Carl; over the wall and into the seats.

But in the ninth, Yaz blasted one off the centerfield wall 420 feet way and while it bounced around in the outfield, he legged out an inside-the-park homer, the first one of his life.

"I never hit one before," said Yastrzemski. "But when I hit it, I thought it was gone."

TWINS WIN

In other American League openers, Minnesota beat Washington 2-0, Cleveland crushed Chicago 9-0, New York edged California 1-0 and Baltimore took Oakland 3-1.

"We couldn't do much better than that the first day," said Red Sox Manager Dick Williams, who was especially pleased by the fact that Dick Ellsworth, acquired from Philadelphia during the winter, went the distance.

"I think Ellsworth and Ray Culp can make up for Jim Lonborg," who will miss part of the season because of his skiing injury. "We've got some good young arms on this staff. We can do it."

HAPPY HUMPHREY

Vice President Hubert Humphrey watched happily as his Minnesota Twins beat Washington with Dean Chance hurling a four-hitter. Harmon Killebrew and Bob Allison hit homers for the Twins.

Sonny Siebert stopped the White Sox on just two hits while Duke Sims lead a lusty Indian hitting attack with two homers. Singles by Duane Josephson and Ken Boyer were the only hits off Siebert.

BOWLING TIPS

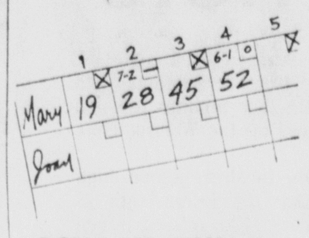
By MARIAN LADEWIG



DON'T LET MISSES IN ALTERNATE FRAMES MISLEAD YOU 4-11

Don't decide too quickly that lane is giving you particular trouble and the other one is relatively easy in a league match. You may make unwise adjustments on the 'difficult" lane that will only add to your problems. I have found during a practice session on just one lane that I will have strikes in alternate frames for perhaps a whole game. If I'd been shooting on a pair, I might have assumed that "the other lane" was tough. Realize that you may just be inconsistent. The average bowler will seldom notice any real difference between two adjoining lanes.

Opening Day Attendance Drops Off

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

The 10 opening games in baseball's major leagues drew a total of 267,125 fans yesterday, a slight decline from the 272,995 a year ago.

The National League had 148,083 and the American 119,042 this year. In 1967 the 10 openers drew 147,736 in the N.L. and the A.L., 125,259.

The defending A. L. champion Boston Red Sox at Detroit contest topped this season's openers with a crowd of 41,429. The Cleveland at Chicago game drew the least—7,756.

In N. L. openers, the New York Mets at San Francisco game had 35,774; Atlanta at St. Louis, 34,740; Chicago at Concinnati, 28,111; Pittsburgh at Houston, 21,320; and Philadelphia at Los Angeles, 28,138.

The other A. L. openers drew: California at New York, 15,744; Oakland at Baltimore, 22,050; and the traditional Presidential opener at Washington vs. Minnesota, 32,063.

NATIONAL LEAGUE HIGHLIGHTS

Aspromonte Hero In Astros' Win Over Bucs

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Aspromonte is an original Astro—the only player still left from the expansion pool that stocked Houston's National League team back in November, 1961.

He's lived through 568 losses in six seasons and he just wasn't prepared to start the new season with another setback.

So, he did something about it. It was Aspromonte's two-out triple in the bottom of the ninth inning that gave the Astros a 5-4 opening night victory over Pittsburgh last night.

OTHER SCORES

Elsewhere as the National League started its 93rd season, St. Louis' world champions pulled out a 2-1 victory over Atlanta, San Francisco pushed across three ninth inning runs and beat New York 5-4, Cincinnati battered Chicago 9-4 and Philadelphia blanked Los Angeles 2-0.

Aspromonte, who's been with Houston so long he predates the Astrodome and goes back to the days when the Astros were called the Colts, climaxed a three-run rally in the ninth with his triple.

But he never would have had a chance to be a hero if rookie Ivan Murrell hadn't come through with a pinch single.

Maury Wills' two-run single had moved Pittsburgh into a 4-2 lead in the top of the ninth. But Joe Morgan opened the Astros' ninth with a single and Hal King walked.

SETS IT UP

Juan Pizarro relieved Jim Bunning, making his first appearance with the Pirates, and got the next two hitters. Then Murrell delivered a pinch single scoring Morgan and setting it up for Aspromonte.

"Just let it be said," the veteran infielder grinned afterwards, "that Aspromonte is most happy with the way everything turned out."

That, obviously, was a reference to the booing Aspromonte got in the seventh inning when he rapped into a double play, killing a Houston rally.

Pat Jarvis had St. Louis shut out for seven innings but the Cards pulled out their opener with single runs in the eighth and ninth innings against the Braves.

Dave Ricketts' pinch single drove in the Cardinals' winning run in the ninth after Dal Maxvill had doubled. Bob Gibson and Ray Washburn limited Atlanta to three hits with Washburn getting the victory.

FOUR-HITTER

Chris Short pitched a four-hitter with 10 strikeouts and rookie Don Money drove in both Philadelphia runs as the Phillies blanked the Dodgers.

Singles by Bill White and Rookie Larry Hisle followed by Money's force play grounder produced the Phillies' first run in the second and then Hisle singled and rode home on Money's double for the insurance run in the eighth.

Tony Perez smacked a three-run homer and Tommy Helms had a two-run shot as Cincinnati battered Chicago. Perez' shot keyed a five-run Red's rally in the fifth inning and Helms' homer wrapped it up in the eighth.

BALL BATTLE — Los Angeles Lakers' Elgin Baylor has a slight edge in battle for rebound with San Francisco's Joe Ellis in first period action of their National Basketball Association playoff game in L.A. last night. Baylor led the Lakers to a 111-108 victory as they took a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven series which continues tonight at the San Francisco Cow Palace. (UPI wirephoto)

Hidden Strength Of 76ers

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Philadelphia 76ers are considered to have the best starting five in the National Basketball Association. But their bench strength was the big question if the 76ers were to win a second straight championship.

So what happened last night? The bench (Matt Guokas, Billy Melchionni and Johnny Green) helped spark the 76ers to a 116-105 victory over the Boston Celtics at Boston to even the best-of-7 Eastern Division final playoff series at 1-1.

In Los Angeles, the Lakers come up with a big fourth quarter to down San Francisco 115-112 and take a 2-0 lead in the best-of 7 Western Division final.

In American Basketball Association playoff action, the Pittsburgh Pipers nipped Minnesota 107-99 for a 2-1 edge in their best-of-7 series in the East final. New Orleans topped Dallas 110-107 to go up 2-1 in the West final.

Wally Jones paced the 76ers with 24 points with bombs from the outside. Backcourt partners Hal Greer, Guokas and Melchionni chipped in with 15, 11 and nine points, respectively.

Chet Walker added 19 points, Wilt Chamberlain had 15 and Luke Jackson and Green had 11 in the balanced Philadelphia attack. John Havlicek tossed in 28 points for the Celtics.

The 76ers broke the game open with a 35-point second quarter and took a 67-60 halftime lead. Then with Philly leading 86-77 after three periods, Guokas reeled off seven straight points at the start of the final 12 minutes to wrap up the contest.

Alex Hannum, the 76ers coach said, "Guokas was fantastic. He came up with loose balls, he was making the plays and he was getting the ball to the basket."

Player-Coach Bill Russell of the Celtics agreed. "Their bench did it. I thought Melchionni hurt us real bad. And Guokas, especially at the start of the fourth period. Green also had a great game."

Melchionni only played a total of 12 minutes while Guokas was in for 20 minutes as they gave starters Jones and Greer a breather.

Bruins Hope For 'Impossible Dream'

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Bruins hope to begin a new Impossible Dream tonight. The Philadelphia Flyers hope to avoid another nightmare.

The National Hockey League's Stanley Cup playoffs continue tonight on four fronts but the St. Louis Blues and the Flyers went at it last night like there would be no tomorrow.

The Blues finally won it 3-2 on Larry Keenan's goal at 4:10 of the second sudden-death overtime period. That gave them a 2-1 lead in their best-of-7 West Division semifinals. The teams return to the St. Louis Arena tonight for another go-round.

In the other West series, Los Angeles takes a 2-1 lead against the North Stars at Minnesota.

In the East, Boston, trailing Montreal 3-0 and facing a virtually hopeless task against the division champs, face the Canadiens again in Boston, spurred on by the baseball Red Sox "Impossible Dream" 1967 pennant against 100-to-1 odds.

In other East semifinal, the Rangers, winners of the first two games in New York, play the Black Hawks in Chicago.

Despite the 24 minutes and 10 seconds of overtime, the Blues-Flyers struggle was only the 30th longest in Stanley Cup history and nowhere near the record of 116 minutes and 30 seconds of extra play. Detroit edged the Montreal Maroons 1-0 in that 1936 classic.

Keenan scored his game-winner past Flyers' goalie Bernie Parent on passes from Dickie Moore and Ron Shock. The Blues outshot Philadelphia 13-4 in the first overtime and 57-35 for the game.

The flyers had rallied twice to tie the score. Jean Gauthier's goal late in the second period matched one early in the session by St. Louis' Terry Crisp. Frank St. Marseille put the Blues ahead again at 7:38 of the third period but Joe Watson deadlocked it with barely six minutes left in regulation time.

Boston may yank goalie Gerry Cheevers in favor of veteran Ed Johnston against Montreal tonight.

The Rangers expect another iron man stint by Chicago's Bobby Hull, who played more than half of Tuesday night's 2-1 New York victory and scored his team's only goal.

Minnesota, held to one goal in two losses at Los Angeles, pumped seven shots past Kings' goalie Terry Sawchuk in a 7-5 triumph Tuesday. Coach Wren Blair talked individually with all his players the day before that game and said the chats helped.

Prep Baseballers In Rough Tourneys

By GARY TISCHLER

Only Redwood and San Rafael made it into the consolation bracket, otherwise known as the better luck next time bracket, which is small consolation.

Meanwhile, in Healdsburg, three Marin Catholic hurlers were giving up 12 hits and 10 walks as the defending champion Wildcats bowed out of the Healdsburg Tournament.

All in all, it was a disappointing showing for the six teams all of which had had winning non-league records going into the tourney.

Still there were some interesting highlights.

Tamalpais, sole possessor of last place in the league, and one of the weakest teams defensively, showed improvement in winning, 6-1, then losing, 2-0, to Santa Rosa. The defense seemed shored up and the pitching was not the disaster that it has been in league play. And coach Al Ahlsten expects Don Mackin back in good shape after being out with a sore arm.

Redwood, despite the 8-3 opening game loss to Montgomery, did have a couple of homers, one by Keith Valk, another a strange low-flying line shot by slugging Ken Johnson. According to reports, it never got 10 feet off the ground, but rolled and rolled in the gritty outfield.

San Rafael optimism from the tourney can stem from the performance of a fellow named Ralph Gallardo.

Gallardo was the losing pitcher in the Bulldogs' 4-1 loss to Santa Rosa in the opener, but allowed no earned runs, struck out eight and got two of San Rafael's three hits. In the Bulldogs' 14-0 rout of Willits, Gallardo, playing first base, hit a three-run homer and finished with five runs batted in. Quite a two-game show.

In that win, Gary Stragnola, hurled a two-hitter and struck out eight.

Terra Linda, after smashing Sonoma, 16-3, in a 15-run barrage lost a heart-breaker, 4-3, to to Montgomery. Five errors, three of them in the outfield, didn't help the Trojans any, nor did the wild pitch that scored the winning run. Dave Edson may also have been robbed of a homer when his long drive hit a tree branch in the left field edge, bouncing back in as playable and limiting him to a triple.

Redwood and Terra Linda, while not meeting on the field, got a good look at each other. Trojan coach Jess Payan thinks the league battle Tuesday, when the Giants and Trojans collide, should be interesting.

"They've got that real deep pitching," Payan said. "But we've got some good hitters."

Interesting to note at the Santa Rosa tourney was that first round losers got to continue in competition while first-round winners who lost their second game, such as Terra Linda and Tam, were eliminated. To the victors go the spoils?

The two best swimmers in the MCAL?

How about Bob Girvin of Drake and Ken James of Redwood.

Girvin holds the best time mark in three events (200 free, 400 free, and 100 butterfly) while James holds the best time (51.1) in the 100 free, beating Girvin in the Drake-Redwood meet, marking the first time that Girvin had lost in head on competition this season.

Wilt Unanimous All-Star Choice

NEW YORK (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain of the Philadelphia 76ers was the only unanimous choice in the National Basketball Association All-Star team announced today by Commissioner Walter Kennedy.

Chamberlain received a perfect score of 12.0 and is joined on the first squad by Elgin Baylor of Los Angeles, Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas of Cincinnati and Dave Bing of Detroit.

Sportswriters and sportscasters voted for the team with each league city receiving one full vote.

Baylor was second in the balloting with a score of 11.084 followed by Robertson, 10.438; Bing, 8.547, and Lucas, 8.342.

Named to the second team were Willis Reed of New York 5.554; Jerry West of Los Angeles, 4.635; Hal Greer of Philadelphia, 4.610; Bill Russell of Boston, 3.579, and John Havlicek of Boston, 3.304.

Chamberlain had made the All-Star team six times previously, winding up on the second team twice. Robertson was voted to the first team for the ninth straight year while Baylor has made it nine of the past 10 seasons.

Lucas returns to the first team after a year's absence, and Bing, the NBA's scoring champion, is on it for the first time.

Players selected for the first time receive 1500 each. Second-team players get $250 each.

Active Trading Day; Stocks Up Steeply

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed with a sharp gain today as prospects for peace talks grew warmer. Trading was active. The ticker tape lagged.

The market was mixed in early trading as it coped with profit taking on Wednesday's 20-million-share session, a record.

Stocks took of in a rally after news came that U.N. Secretary U Thant had said U.S.-North Vietnam talks could begin in a mater of two or three days.

Glamour stocks and blue chips together made significant gains.

The market was mixed in the morning as it simmered down from yesterday's rally on record volume of 20.41 million shares.

Brokers said early in the day the list performed well in remaining on an even keel as profits were taken, especially in advance of the three-day week day weekend. The exchanges will be closed Good Friday.

From an even balance of losers against gainers, the market shifted to the upside with plus signs outnumbering minuses by more than 200.

North American Rockwell, up 2, was the volume leader, thanks mainly to a single block of 79,800 shares.

IBM gained 5, AVCO 3, Du Pont and St. Regis Paper about 2 each.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

LBJ Approves Creation Of Air West

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson has approved the merger of Bonanza Air Lines, Pacific Air Lines and West Cost Airlines, the Civil Aeronautics Board reported today.

Bonanza and West Coast will be merged into Pacific, and the name of the merged corporation will be changed to Air West, Inc.

In its approval of the transaction, the CAB issued a companion order under which the new firm will received $676,000 less in annual federal subsidies than the total all three lines were getting.

Air West will serve an area bounded on the north by Seattle and Calgary, Canada; in the south by San Diego and Yuma and Tucson, Ariz., along with points in Mexico; and on the east by Great Falls, Mont., Idaho Falls, Idato, Salt Lake City and Phoenix.

The CAB said each outstanding share of West Coast and Bonanza stock will become one share of common stock of equal share value of Air West.

The new corporation will have a 24-member board of directors—eight from each of the merged companies.

Public Is Entitled To Budget Information

At a recent candidates' forum in San Anselmo, Mrs. John M. Reichmuth arose to urge the 120 people present to attend city council budget hearings.

When the council meets to discuss its budget for next fiscal year, only those who want the city to spend money on their special projects show up, she told the gathering. Those who are interested in saving money, keeping taxes down, rarely appear.

The council is thus subject to spending pressure and has little support for saying "no."

Mrs. Reichmuth knew whereof she spoke. She has attended many such budget sessions during the eight years her husband has served on the San Anselmo City Council.

SAN ANSELMO IS BY NO means unique in this respect. The same is true in all the cities. In San Rafael, Marin's biggest city, most of the city council budget discussions the past several years have been with an Independent-Journal reporter the only listener, apart from city employees.

In school districts, the situation is much the same. While there are usually more people at a school board budget discussion, almost all of them are teachers and school administrators. The public has very scant representation.

This lack of public interest when budgets are discussed can result only in less careful spending of the public's money. No matter how dedicated to economy a council or board may be, when the pressure at budget time is all for spending, it can scarcely fail to give way at least a little.

Since the public doesn't care, councilmen and board members reason, why appear as tight-fisted Scrooges in the face of earnest spending arguments.

THERE IS, HOWEVER, another facet to this.

If members of the public do attend budget discussions, they should be able to tell what the board or council is talking about.

Generally, each trustee or councilman has a copy of the budget requests. These are gone over and discussed item-by-item.

But no copies are made available for members of the public. Therefore, they have no way of seeing how each item fits into the total.

It's their money the board is spending, but they have no account sheet of how it's being spent.

WE NEVER HEARD of a board or council that did not express desire to keep taxes down. Moreover, most of them mean it.

If they would have the public's help in doing it, however, they owe it to the public to make the spending requests available for public perusal.

The cost of mimeographing a few dozen copies of the budget requests would not be great. The resultant savings might be considerable.

Besides, it's the public's money, so the public is entitled to this information.

North Korea Readies 'Second Front' War

By PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—As the North Vietnamese enter the "fighting while negotiating" phase of the Vietnam war, keep your eyes glued on Korea.

Secret preparations are being made by the North Koreans to open a "second front" in Asia to trap and destroy the 50,000 American troops stationed along the 38th parallel—the armistice line that divides North and South Korea.

Within the past 30 days, U.S. intelligence authorities have carefully documented the aggressive preparations of the North Koreans. Only the Communists' "D" day is uncertain.

One group of U.S. intelligence officers is warning that the invasion of South Korea could come as early as May 1—the traditional Red workers' day—or in June on the anniversary of the 1950 invasion.

Other intelligence experts believe the North Koreans will time their attack for the closing days of the coming presidential campaign or during the November to January post-election period while the nation waits to install a new president.

FOR THE PAST nine months, the Russians have been pouring their most modern arms and hundreds of additional military advisers into the most tightly controlled Communist country in Asia.

Several shiploads of tanks and artillery, originally earmarked for North Vietnam, were rerouted in the past six weeks to North Korea. Refugees from the north warn the Communist half of Korea is being shifted from "a stage of partial to full mobilization."

THE JOHNSON administration's reaction to North Korea's preparations for war has so far been very cautious.

The president has ordered the biggest buildup in U.S. airpower in South Korea since the end of hostilities there in 1953. One hundred U.S. jets have been deployed there, most being sent following the seizure of the intelligence-gathering vessel, the Pueblo.

In addition to this air buildup the Defense Department has begun shipping new military equipment to the South Korean government.

The distribution of the first shipments of these weapons by the South Koreans, however, is causing growing concern among several high ranking U.S. military intelligence officers. Instead of being turned over to regular Korean military forces, most of the new American weapons are being given to the new militia being organized under the tight control of Kim Hyung Wuk, director of South Korea's central intelligence agency and a close friend of President Park Chung Hee.

President Park has argued that the new militia—or the "second army," as it is being called—is necessary to deal with increasing infiltration from North Korea.

While U.S. military officials in South Korea concede that the infiltration threat is growing, they want President Park to use U.S. arms to beef up his present military forces and not set up a "second army."

A MAN OF FEW words, with an intense interest in political affairs, the 52-year-old President Park is still regarded as a mysterious person to U.S. intelligence experts who have checked his background.

Most amazing thing about Park, these officials report, is that he was once under sentence of death as the ringleader of a Communist cell in the South Korean constabulary.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Club Punished; Not So, Clergy

Editor, Independent-Journal:

With tax time here again, I thought that it might be nice to let your readers in on some appalling news that I received in the mail the other day. The decision of the Internal Revenue Service to tax the Sierra Club for its lobbying activities is a flagrant case of discrimination and inequity in applying the law.

When a bill was introduced in the California Legislature liberalizing the abortion law, the Roman Catholic hierarchy set up a powerful lobby, threatening and cajoling the members of the legislature. The aim of this lobby was to prevent any liberalization of the archaic abortion law. . . .

To the credit of our legislature, it refused to take voting orders from these agents of a foreign power. Yet, the tax exempt status of this, the world's richest organization, has never been questioned. What a contrast between this favoritism and the action taken against the Sierra Club for legislative lobbying on behalf of conservation! Doesn't this make a mockery of the American principles of equality before the law and special priviledes to none?

Danger Of Secrecy In Commitments

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The recent controversy regarding the closing to the public of criminal proceedings in the municipal and superior courts and the sealing of the transcripts thereof brings to mind pertinent practices in mental commitment proceedings.

State law permits that commitment hearing may be closed to the public — subject only to a demand of the defendant that the hearing be open. Nowhere, however, does the statute provide for notice to the defendant that he need demand a public hearing — which he would expect as a matter of right.

The superior court in the County of Marin does not provide a court reporter to transcribe these mental commitment proceedings by which a defendant might be deprived of his liberty for what could be the remainder of his natural life.

An indigent defendant would therefore be without the benefit of a vital transcript of the proceedings if he wished to appeal the commitment to a higher court.

One appellate court, in response to an appeal involving such circumstances of blanket secrecy, warned that "no citizen would be safe from the machinations of secret tribunals, and the most sane member of the community might be adjudged insane and landed in the madhouse."

TB Group Backs Ban On Burning

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Regarding the meeting called March 28 in the supervisors' chambers by the Bay Area Pollution Control District to hear reactions to the proposed ban on backyard burning:

It was a pity deadline demands called away your expert reported Wat Takeshita before several citizens spoke in favor of the ban.

After Mr. Takeshita's departure, the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Association went on record favoring the ban. This voluntary health agency is committed nationally, statewide, and locally to work for air conservation. Why? Because air pollution is a serious health hazard. And backyard burning contributes a big 10 per cent — 921 tons per day — to the pollution in our Bay Area air . . .

Tax Boost Held Inflation Promoter

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The administration is currently trying to ram through Congress its 10 per cent surtax, which is supposed to decrease inflation. The surtax will increase inflation. The reason for this is that inflation is caused, in part, by an increase in the demand for goods and services. You, as an individual or family, do not spend all of the money you have because you are thrifty and you save for emergencies; the government spends every penny it gets its hands on. Thus the tax money in your hands would not be all spent for goods and services, while in the government's hands it would; so that if the tax goes through there will be greater demands for goods and services and as a result, more inflation. . . .

Transport Study Not Killed Yet

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Brickbats to the I-J for its hasty judgment on the Balanced Transportation Study by Paul Zucker and Donald Frost, and for suggesting, erroneously, that it was "killed" by the Planning Commission. (Bouquets and Brickbats, I-J, April 6).

The proposal is alive, was presented to the Supervisors Tuesday, April 2, received both favorable and critical comments, and has been referred to the cities for their reaction.

The study outline was prepared in direct response to instructions from the Marin supervisors, who were in turn responding to the demands of many citizens for a more "balanced" approach to our transportation problems.

The cost of the study is modest — $33,500 this year, $35,000 next year. (Compare with studies presently going on in Contra Costa County and San Mateo County at $611,000 and $597,000.) It will utilize data already gathered by various state agencies. The program includes two phases:

Phase 1, a factual, detailed description of current and future travel demand.

Phase 2, a testing out of a range of possible transit solutions.

It calls for periodic "pauses" to permit "interpretation and discussion of findings by public representatives," and to seek "direction on what alternatives to test."

In my opinion it is a well-conceived study both in its simplicity of approach, and in its expressed intent to communicate with the interested public as work progresses.

If Marin officials cannot agree on this modest attempt to determine our own transportation destinies, then I expect we will have little choice but to accept decisions made by others for us.

Member, County Planning Commission

Hanoi War-Weary, But Top Command Is Unified

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Just as the Saigon government has suffered from official corruption and sabotage, so in some degree at least has Hanoi.

A recent decree published in Nhan Dan, the official North Vietnamese newspaper, set penalties up to the death sentence for such offenses as plotting to overthrow the government, espionage, armed rebellion, banditry and sabotage.

Also included was an attack on jails to free prisoners.

Publication of the decree carried with it the clear implication that the North Vietnamese population was not so wholly dedicated to the war effort as the Communist propagandists would have us believe.

NONETHELESS, while there may be a certain amount of disunity and certainly war-weariness within the country, there is no evidence of any division at the top.

One of the most recent impartial newsmen to visit Hanoi was Yasumasa Ota, an executive of Kyodo, Japan's biggest news agency.

He described the top three or four North Vietnamese leaders as completely united.

President Ho Chi Minh, he said, is the uncontested leader of the government and the country, despite reports that he recently has been ill.

Next to Ho, and giving him complete support, he said, were Premier Pham Van Dong, Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh and party secretary Chari Le Duan.

OF THESE THREE, Dong Duan would be rated the most important.

Dong was described as a positive man exuding confidence. He also was said to be the most knowledgeable about foreign affairs.

Dong, in a recent interview, declared that "it is we who will win the war, whatever its duration and cost."

The premier also made it clear North Vietnam would be prepared for long and arduous negotiations.

"We will be as serious in negotiations as we are on the battlefield," he declared.

These are the men, along with Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, who agreed to preliminary peace talks. They also undoubtedly agreed to press the war effort even as negotiations proceed in an attempt to better their bargaining position.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS SAY

HOLY THURSDAY

Not one word of complaint or protest was uttered by Jesus at the Last Supper, even though He knew He was to be crucified within a short time.

Instead His farewell discourse to His disciples was filled with tender love for them and a fervent plea that they in turn show love for everyone.

The Lord said: "A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another: even as I have loved you, that you also love one another." (John 13:34)

Jesus emphasized that the distinguishing mark of a follower of His should be love for his fellow man.

"By this all men will know that you are My disciples, if you have love for one another." (John 13:55)

Then the Savior pointed out the lengths to which one should go in loving neighbor as oneself:

"Greater love has no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends." (John 15:13)

During these holy days, let us ponder prayerfully the Savior's plea to go beyond self-interest and devote our energies to the service of persons in physical or spiritual need.

Deepen in me, Father, a sincere love of people — all people.

Modernization Of Capital Daily Marks Milestone For Oldest Paper

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Progress is a wonderful thing to behold, and even more so when it happens to be in one's own line of business.

Consequently, the dedication ceremonies for the new Metro Goss printing press at the new site of the Sacramento Union paid rich dividends, both in the outlook for the future of the newspaper, and in memories encompassing a span of some 46 years.

The Union, which began publication in 1851 and has continued to this day, is the oldest daily in the West, yet the newest daily not only in the west, but in the United States in point of technical achievement in the reproduction field.

THE NEW UNION presently is on its shake-down cruise, with some months to go before the entire operation is centered at its new site on the Capitol Mall, a site only a block or so from the dingy building in which it started publication in 1851 — a site abandoned in the early 1920s in favor of an old garage building alongside the Western Pacific railroad tracks at what is now 19th and Capitol Avenue.

By the end of this year, not only the press, but the other departments of the Union expect to be occupying the new building in the state capital's redevelopment area on grounds near where it began.

The speed and efficiency which mark the manner the new Union is taking shape are tributes both to the ingenuity and driving proclivities of private enterprise and managerial capacity of the publisher, Carlyle Reed, who after getting the go ahead signal from James S. Copley, chairman of the parent company which publishes the Union, let no grass grow under his feet.

DETAILS of the new Goss are far too numerous to be treated here. It is an eight-unit offset, capable of running at 62,000 an hour capacity with slick magazine quality color controlled electronically. In fact, the whole operation is controlled electronically, from computerized photo composition to delivery of the finished bundles of paper to the waiting delivery trucks.

The Sacramento Union has had its ups and downs in the years since publication first was started on an old flat-bed press. But it has persevered through the downs, and a visit to the modern, outstanding new plant of today would indicate the daily is well into the "ups."

A COUPLE OF GENUINE hillbillies were drafted, and boarded a train for the very first time to report for induction. An attendant soon walked through the car selling bananas — which they never had seen before, either. As one of them took his first tentative bite into his banana, the train entered a long tunnel. He cried to his companion, "Don't touch that banana or whatever they call it, Bud! I've took just one bite and gone blind!"

The remarkable thing is that we really love our neighbor as ourselves; we do unto others as we do unto ourselves. We hate others when we hate ourselves. ## Permissiveness Proves The Way To Prevent Campus Showdowns

Two occasions in the recent past have helped change my mind on the value of permissiveness in the administration of higher learning, at least for present times.

Both events occurred at College of Marin. And both concluded, I believe, satisfactorily.

The first was last month after a campus group, Students Against War, threatened to circulate petitions against a visit by armed forces recruiting teams. A meeting of the group's representatives and the Associated Students commission resulted, however, in the latter agreeing to permit SAW to place a table near the recruiting tables at the student center to pass out its own pamphlets.

SAW was joined by four other anti-war or anti-draft groups. Although the atmosphere of five protest tables adjacent to two recruiting tables made quite a conglomeration of activities, the day ended with the recruiters passing along their service-opportunity information, and the protestors voicing in peaceable manner their own objections.

THE SECOND occasion was not planned. In fact, it was a last-hour reversal of an earlier decision. But it was, I also believe, a wise move.

Last Thursday night, following the assassination of nonviolence leader Martin Luther King Jr., the college's Black Students for Action approached Paul Tuttle, president of the Associated Students. They asked him to request that Supt. William K. Ramstad dismiss Friday classes from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. so students could attend memorial services in the student center.

Dr. Ramstad declined. He said the next morning his decision was mainly based on two things: Last week was one of the weeks in which class attendance records are used as a basis for state funds, and perhaps more importantly, few students have classes both at 11 a.m. and noon, so the one free hour could be used to attend the proposed continuous memorial service.

BLACK STUDENTS for Action began spontaneous eulogies at the center about 9:30 a.m. Friday. Students gathered, emotions ran high. The memorial scene shifted to the lawn in front of Harlan Hall, almost in the shadow of a flag flying at half-staff in mourning for King.

By 10:30 a.m., 11 Negro students—male and female — surrounded themselves with over 300 student listeners. Led mainly by one Negro student, they assaulted more the white man's philosophy then the white man.

Still, a student photographer's camera was dropped and broken by another Negro student who objected to pictures being taken. I was told to put away my notebook or it would be torn up.

IT CLEARLY was a situation in which even the most insignificant tug-of-war over a camera or notebook could ignite violence. It also was apparent that enforcement of the classes-as-scheduled decision would be difficult.

Just then, word that President Johnson had declared Sunday a day of national mourning was received. And Dr. Ramstad, considering both the student pressure and the spirit of Johnson's declaration, decided that since Easter vacation was to begin Friday evening at the college, anyway, he would advance the vacation period to 11 a.m.

The first Negro student continued his talk. Bold questions and answers were exchanged between Negro and white students in the circle, but there was no violence. Conclusion of the Negro student's 90-minute discourse was met with the sharp, clear ring of student applause. He and his companions had had their say. The audience had heard and participated, then dispersed.

At 11:30 a.m., only a few discarded paper cups, copies of the bulletin announcing the earlier hour of vacation, and student newspapers cluttered the grounds. The campus scene was quiet and sad.

Also it was peaceful.

Huckleberry House Gets Marin Gift

Huckleberry House, center for runaways in San Francisco's Haight-Ashbury district, received a $768 grant yesterday from the William Babcock Memorial Endowment.

The allocation was based upon the number of Marin County runaway children and their parents who have been assisted by Huckleberry House since it opened last June. "Four per cent of our clients are from Marin County," said Rev. Larry Beggs of Mill Valley, director of the center. "We have had 15 runaway clients from Marin and 25 Marin parents have received counseling since Huckleberry was started."

A total of 516 runaway clients have been assisted during the center's operation. Roughly one third come from the Bay Area, one third from all parts of California and one third from the rest of the country. Average age of the runaways is 15.5 years. Services to the fleeing youngsters include food, shelter and an attempt to reunite families or to find a solution to the problems which cause young people to leave their homes.

Huckleberry House is sponsored by the Regional Young Adult Project, an agency composed of several church groups, including the Glide Foundation. Thirteen of the center's volunteer workers are from Marin.

The Babcock endowment was established in 1960. Its original purpose was to assist Marin County residents against catastrophic illness. Its purposes were later broadened to include endowment of the William Babcock Memorial Wing of Marin General Hospital in 1963, a grant to assist the Marin Child Development Center in 1964, and aid to the Marin Association for Mental Health in establishing a program for rehabilitation of former mental patients in March of this year.

Bills To Save Tax Ceilings Bottled Up

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Three bills aimed at preventing unchecked escalation of school tax rates are bottled up in committee in the California Legislature.

Two are in the Assembly education committee: AB 201, by Assemblyman Robert H. Burke, R-Huntington Beach, and AB 234, by Assemblyman William M. Ketchum, R-Bakersfield. The third, SB 8 by Sen. John G. Schmitz, R-Tustin, is in the Senate education committee.

All three have the same purpose: to repeal a section of last year's AB 272, the omnibus school finance bill by Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Inglewood. (That was the measure that caused trouble because its cost turned out to be a still-undetermined amount more than the State Department of Education said it would be.)

TUCKED AWAY in Unruh's bill was a proviso that the limits on school district operating tax rates shall all expire June 30, 1971.

This gives district school boards the power to raise taxes to any figure they desire, starting with the fiscal year 1972.

Nearly all California school districts have general purpose operating tax rates far in excess of the statutory limits — but all these have been approved by the voters in the districts.

State law sets the operating tax rate limit for elementary school districts at 80 cents or 90 cents per $100 assessed property valuation, depending on the size of the district; for high school districts, at 75 cents; for unified districts, $1.65.

These figures, of course, are many years out of date. And over the years, voters in virtually every school district have approved a succession of increases in the maximum rates.

ACTUALLY, these limits apply to only part of the school tax levy — the general operating tax. There are in addition, 29 "over-rides" which district trustees can levy without asking the voters, for all sorts of purposes ranging from the extra cost of a departmentalized program in seventh and eighth grades to installing automatic sprinkler systems in school buildings.

On top of all these are levies for bond redemption and state loan repayment. So it is far from unusual for a school district with a general operating rate limit of $2 to be levying tax rates totaling well over $3 yer $100 assessed valuation.

School trustees want the limits off operating rates because it is becoming increasingly difficult to pass tax rate increases in elections. With no limits, they will not need to worry about this.

The bills by Burke, Ketchum and Schmitz would merely leave the situation as it is and long has been: when the school board feels it is necessary to hike the operating tax rate beyond the existing limit, it must go back to the voters.

According to word from Sacramento, the California School Boards Association and California Teachers Association have teamed up to see to it that none of the three bills gets out of committee.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES frequently complain that "the only place the people have a chance to vote on taxes is in the school district."

This is not true, however. General law cities in California are limited by statute to an operating tax rate of $1 per $100 assessed valuation. Nearly all charter cities have tax rate limits written into their charters. And, although there are some special purposes for which the cities can levy additional taxes, the number is far smaller than the 29 over-rides allowed school districts.

Most special districts (recreation, flood control, etc.) also are limited to tax rates above which they cannot go without approval of the electorate.

The difference is that the cities and special districts very rarely call on the voters for a raise in the tax rate ceiling. School districts, however, go back to the voters frequently to ask increases. And with increasing frequency, the voters are saying "no."

Where school tax rates will go when there is no limit is anybody's guess. Everyone may have a chance to find out —the hard way — in the fall of 1971, unless the Burke, Ketchum or Schmitz bill is pried out of committee.

SING OUT MARIN

Youths Oppose Drop-Out Image

By ANNE BARDWELL

A group of San Rafael and Sacramento young persons, determined to present an alternative image to the drop-out generation, are organizing Sing Out Marin, the newest chapter in a nationwide chain of youth choruses.

Sing Out, part of the Up With People program, is an outgrowth of the Moral Rearmament movement first started in 1938 by Dr. Frank Buckman in England and revived in recent years in the United States.

In answer to the accusation that the younger generation is going to pot, Up With People presents close-clipped, clean-shaven, bright-eyed youngsters of high school and college age who sing non-rock songs full of positive messages of love, purity, honesty and unselfishness.

"You don't have to accept the philosophy to belong to Up With People," said 17-year-old David Lamm of Sacramento. "I question it all the time and I usually find it's right and I'm wrong."

One current cliche — the generation gap — is supported by Lamm. "But it's really a philosophy gap," he said. "The older generation isn't positive enough. All they see are the negative consequences."

Lamm and three other Sacramento Sing Out members are spending their Easter vacation helping Davidson Junior High School student Jeff Yarbrough, 13, of 12 Hepburn Heights Road, San Rafael, organize Sing Out Marin. Yarbrough, a former member of the Sacramento chorus, sought their help after the group appeared in San Rafael last weekend.

So far, mainly by word of mouth, 20 youngsters have joined up, forming the nucleus of what Yarbrough hopes one day will be a 150-member chorus.

The Sing Out choruses, once established, perform on the average of once a week before a variety of audiences including civic and booster clubs, local fairs and visiting politicians.

The Marin group has already planned its first performance to be held April 20, national Up With People Day, before an audience of parents, the American Association of Retired People and anyone else who wants to come.

Musical talent is not necessary for membership in a Sing Out chorus. "We'll take anyone who wants to join us," Yarbrough said. "There's always a lot of behind the scenes work to be done too."

"The only qualification anyone needs is 'enthusiaction'," Lamm added. "That's part of what it's all about."

Napa County Votes Grape Belt Rules

NAPA (AP) — Napa County supervisors have adopted an agricultural preserve ordinance designed to protect Napa Valley's world famous vineyards from subdivision and extensive real estate development.

The ordinance pushed through Tuesday by a vote of four yes and one abstention establishes safeguards for 25,000 acres in a region that early American settlers called "the sweetest vale in California."

The land is principally in wine grapes, though there are some prune orchards and open grazing space.

The ordinance would prohibit subdiving the area below minimum blocks of 20 acres. Backers of the law say this would help keep evaluations down and prevent soaring land prices resulting from activites of developers.

The principal opposition to the ordinance was around St. Helene where some property owners threatened a court test.

California Water Supply Below Normal This Spring

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Less water than usual will be available in California this year, state officials said today.

The State Department of Water Resources said spring-like weather in early March cut down the snow pack in the mountains. Only about 85 per cent of the average runoff into the valleys is expected.

"Efficient scheduling and use of water will be required this year in order to gain maximum benefits from available surface supplies," said William R. Gianelli, director of water resources.

In the Sacramento Valley, runoffs are almost normal on the Pit River to about 65 per cent of normal for the Mokelumne.

Officials said the most critical area in the state is the San Joaquin Valley, where runoff is predicted at 70 per cent of normal for the Tuolumne River basin and only 54 per cent for the Kings River basin.

But Gianelli said the situation is improved by reservoir storage, 110 per cent of normal for this time of year.

Future Farmers Competition Set For Tomales

The annual project competition judging for the Tomales High School chapter of the Future Farmers of America will begin at 8 a.m. and last all day Saturday.

James Marshall, president of the Marin County Farm Bureau; Paul Bianchi, former American Farmer award winner in the Future Farmers of America, and William Passalaqua, Bodega Bay rancher, will judge the competition this year.

They will visit the farms of the members, judging on the scope, quality, student's responsibility, project record books and knowledge of the subject matter in each student's project.

Winners in the Tomales competition will compete against other chapter winners in Marin, Sonoma and Napa county sections of the FFA during the week of May 6-10.

Sunbaths Spark Marijuana Count

A Fairfax couple, whose mistake reportedly was to take their marijuana plants out for daily sunbaths, are to enter pleas in Marin Municipal Court Monday to charges of possessing the forbidden weed.

Mark Emerson Vincent and his wife, Michael Elizabeth Vincent, were arrested by Fairfax police March 27 at their home at 78 Wreden Avenue, Fairfax.

In reporting the case yesterday, police said they got an anonymous tip that Vincent was sunning marijuana plants.

They drove by the house and reportedly saw him sitting on the front porch, watching 46 illegal plants grow in the sunshine.
